U.N. Slated To Air Suez Canal Issue

Security Council Sets Debate To Get Its Start Wednesday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council will meet Wednesday afternoon to take up the Suez Canal dispute at the request of Britain and France.

A full airing of the bitter wrangle with Egypt is expected to develop after the arrival of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other high officials by the end of the week.

Diplomatic quarters said French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Secretary of State Dulles were expected to take part in the council discussion.

Britain and France put their surprise demand before the 11-nation council in a letter to its president, Emilio Nunez-Portuondo of Cuba. They did not say what action they could seek.

A British spokesman in London indicated the two nations would ask the 103-mile waterway be put under international control. Egyptian President Nasser already has rejected that proposal, and Western diplomats feared Russia would veto any council action opposed by Egypt.

DULLES INDICATED the United States would seek to delay the major debate. The American secretary Sunday endorsed the British-French appeal to the U. N. but said he thought "substantive discussion" before the council should wait until formation of the Suez Canal Users' Assn. agreed on at the 18-nation London conference last week.

The association is scheduled to be set up at another London conference beginning Oct. 1. It is supposed to work up a proposal to the U. N. for international control of the canal and to approach Egypt directly for a role for the user nations in the operation of the waterway.

Egyptian sources in Cairo said their government welcomed reference of the canal dispute to the U. N., feeling that the issue "should have been taken to the United Nations in the first place."

Anglo-French Position OK'd

Dulles Says U.S. Set For Suez Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and France were assured today of full United States support in their decision to take the Suez Canal dispute with Egypt to the U. N. Security Council Wednesday.

Secretary of State Dulles said Sunday he "thinks well" of the move and believes it can lead to a peaceful and just solution of the canal crisis "if Egypt wants a peaceful solution at all."

In a discussion of the prolonged Suez controversy, Dulles also made these other points:

1. He will suggest to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey immediately that the present freeze on Egyptian funds in this country be broadened to prevent the payment of canal tolls directly to Egypt by American ship operators. The tolls would be paid, instead, into blocked accounts in this country. This tightening of the economic screws on Egypt is designed to bring American policy on this point into line with that of Britain and France.

2. American vessels going through Suez would, in Dulles' opinion, "hesitate a long time before taking a Soviet pilot on board." The Egyptians have been hiring some Soviet pilots. Dulles implied that no ship captain could tell whether the pilot might also be a spy for Russia.

3. THE DANGER of war over the canal has "not been ended" although Dulles thinks "it has been reduced" by recent moves of the Western powers.

Dulles said he opposes use of military measures except possibly as a last resort, but added, "I don't think you can go on forever asking people not to resort to force."

He said that the users' association, which would hire its own canal pilots, collect tolls and make payments to Egypt, offered the possibility of arranging a practical, day-to-day system of getting ships through the canal. The arrangement, he said, should "help the United Nations very much."

California Brush Fire Is Battled

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Firefighters battled today to ring a "fire storm" that has burned more than 8,500 acres of brush and timber near the Lake Arrowhead mountain resort.

The "fire storm," so-called because it can generate its own intense winds, swept through the Crest Park summer home tract, about five miles east of the lake in the San Bernardino Mountains.

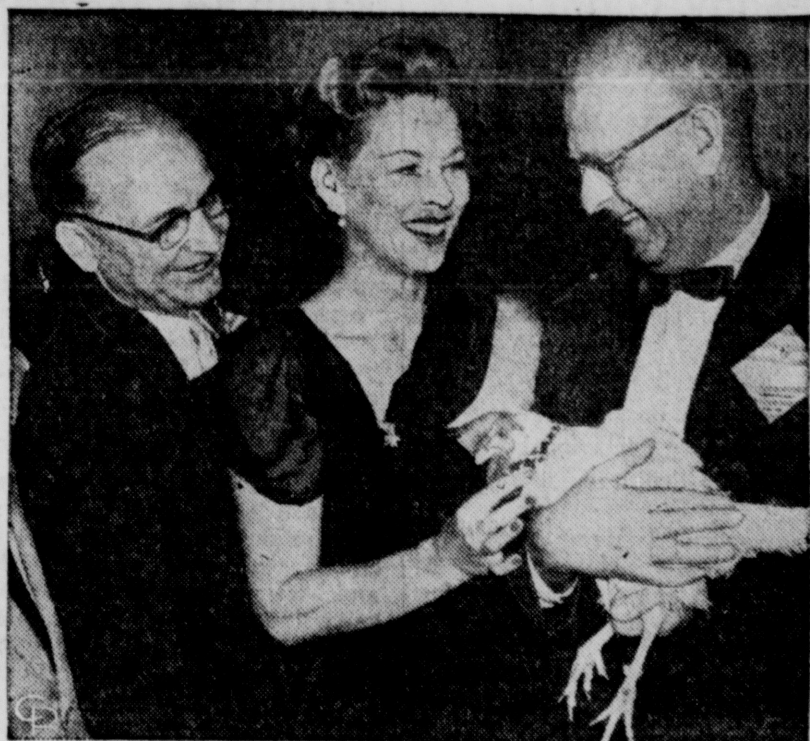

U. S. Forestry Service spokesman said the area is still "too hot" to inspect closely but at least 20 homes were destroyed.

Portsmouth City Manager Threatened; Home Attacked

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A vandal broke two windows in the home of City Manager Robert E. Layton today and a few minutes later his wife received a telephone threat.

Layton was awakened by a noise at 3:15 a. m., but went back to bed when he could find nothing amiss. Fifteen minutes later, a shot was fired through a window of the attached garage and hit Layton's car. While investigating, Layton discovered the first noise had been the sound of a steel ball breaking a window.

While Layton was talking with police about 3:40 a. m., Mrs. Layton received a telephone call. She reported a male voice told her:

"Ma'am, you'd better tell your husband to lay off enforcing the law around this town or we'll get him and your family, too."

In the house at the time were the Laytons' four children, ranging in age from 2 to 10, and Mrs. Layton's mother, Mrs. C. H. Veditz of Amsterdam, N. Y.

The Laytons returned Saturday from Canada where they attended the annual convention of the International City Managers Assn. They were out of the city last week during the three-day period when Portsmouth was without telephone service.

Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. abandoned service because of what it said was the failure of local authorities to protect supervisory personnel of the company. The firm has been strikebound since July 15 because of a contract dispute with some 600 members of the Communication Workers of America.

Two Greenfield men pleaded guilty in common pleas court in Hillsboro Saturday to charges of cutting cables of the telephone company in Greenfield.

200 Arrested In Nicaragua In Shooting Of President

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Wholesale arrests of opponents of the government have followed the attempt to assassinate President Anastasio Somoza.

About 200 persons, including two newspaper editors and a former president, were being questioned in a police search for possible accomplices of the assassin.

The Nicaragua strongman's son Luis, 34, took a firm hold on the country while Somoza underwent treatment at a U. S. hospital in the Panama Canal Zone for four gunshot wounds.

Somoza was reported in satisfactory condition after four separate operations performed by a surgical team sent by President Eisenhower. A medical bulletin said it was uncertain whether the Central American President would regain use of his right leg, paralyzed by a bullet in his spine.

The assassin, Rigoberto Lopez Perez, 27, was slain by Somoza's guards immediately after emptying a revolver at the 60-year-old President just before midnight Friday at a reception in Leon, 45 miles from the capital.

Luis Somoza and his younger brother Anastasio Jr., 32, were directing the search for the assassin's helpers. Luis acted as first

In passing sentence, Judge Hottle said the case merely was one of a criminal law violation and that the strike itself was not an issue. He said he suspended half of Grate's fine because Grate had cooperated with authorities and had an "acceptable attitude."

Nationalists Rake German Ship Off China

HONG KONG (AP)—Nationalist Chinese guns raked the German freighter Monika, seeking shelter from typhoon Gilda off the China coast, although her flag was clearly visible, the West German consulate charged today.

The Defense Ministry in Taipei acknowledged the Nationalists fired warning shots at an unidentified ship west of Quemoy Saturday when the Monika was under attack. But it asserted the shots fell well clear of the vessel.

The ship's captain, Ewald Dila, said the Nationalists who shelled the Monika and the consulate confirmed his version. One officer was killed and two crewmen hurt.

A consulate spokesman said the Monika, en route from Hong Kong to Japan with a nonstrategic cargo, gave normal identification signals and hoisted her flag when within 1½ miles of Ta Tan, near Quemoy, and Amoy.

Ships' officers said the 1,106-ton Monika ran into some 300 rounds of fire and took 10 direct hits as she headed for Amoy.

Normally, the consulate said, ships seeking cover from storms are permitted by the Nationalists to enter Amoy harbor.

The Chinese Nationalist Foreign Ministry said it "has repeatedly announced that ships proceeding to that area will have to do so at their own risk."

Tomato Pickers Heading South

TOLEDO (AP)—A picker shortage is putting another nip in the frost-bitten profits of Northwestern Ohio tomato growers.

Many of the pickers are moving south to start work on an early cotton crop, said M. C. Connolly, secretary-manager of Conner Growers, Inc., of Maumee, a co-operative organization representing about 1,500 Ohio and Michigan tomato growers.

As a result, many of the tomatoes now ripening and suitable for canning probably will go to waste.

The growers were hit last week with a killing frost that claimed upwards of $1 million in tomato losses. The frost was spotty, so that only part of the crop was damaged.

U.S. Offering Atom Program To World Body

Envoy Says Sharing Idea Would Be Safe From Military Misuse

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States offered today to put its whole atom-sharing program under the projected international atom-for-peace agency.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth made the offer in opening general discussion at an 81-nation conference called here to complete a constitution for the agency.

He noted that this constitution, or statute, would set up safeguards against military misuse of atomic materials the agency distributed for peaceful purposes. He said:

"The statute would also permit the agency to apply its safeguards to bilateral or multilateral arrangements otherwise not subject to its supervision or control, if the parties to such arrangements so request."

"The United States hopes that parties to bilateral arrangements throughout the world will avail themselves of this provision, thus contributing toward the eventual establishment of a uniform system of safeguards of universal application."

"If this is done, the United States can look forward to making the agency the cornerstone of its international activities in the field of atomic energy."

The United States has bilateral agreements with 37 countries to supply them power or research reactors or radioactive isotopes. Britain, the Soviet Union and Canada are among other countries that give help under similar arrangements.

Wadsworth also revived President's proposal, made in a disarmament letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin last March 1, that all production of fissionable materials anywhere in the world "be devoted exclusively to peaceful purposes."

"Acceptance of this United States proposal," he said, "would mean the application of safeguards to the United States, the (Continued on Page Two)

Mother Irked By Indecision In Boy's Case

ATLANTA (AP)—The mother of 5-year-old Johnny Pair says she is "growing frantic" over the failure of her divorced husband to decide whether to permit an operation that may save the life of her sturdy little boy.

If the operation is performed it means blindness for Johnny. If it isn't, cancer probably will bring his death. Johnny's left eye was removed two years ago and then the malignancy spread to the right eye.

Mrs. Bessie Pair, a 32-year-old trimmer for a hat company, reiterated Sunday night that an operation must be performed, and the sooner the better.

She pointed out that on Sept. 12 doctors said that a few days delay in reaching a decision about an operation wouldn't matter. But that was 10 days ago, she said, "and now I'm growing frantic."

Her divorced husband, Arnold Pair, a 33-year-old machine operator, opposed the operation at first on the grounds he wanted Johnny to retain his sight as long as possible.

Later he said he would announce a decision after the morning service at the East Atlanta Baptist Church Sunday. He did not appear at the church. Later he said he still had not reached a decision.

Doctors say they must have the consent of both parents before performing the operation, even though Mrs. Pair was awarded custody of the lad by a judge.

New Administrator Named At Berger

Alva Williamson, Head Of Hospital In W. Va., Will Succeed Curtis

Alva J. Williamson, currently employed as administrator of the Grafton City Hospital at Grafton, W. Va., has been selected as the new administrator at Berger Hospital.

The hospital's board of governors announced here today that he will succeed Berger Administrator Tom Curtis, who is leaving to take a position in Virginia. Williamson will become the top administrative official at Berger on October 3.

Williamson, 50, of Scotch-Irish descent, is a member of the Methodist Church. He is married and has one son, who will be enrolled at Ohio State University.

The Williamsons plan to sell their home in Grafton and purchase one in Circleville.

Background of the new administrator includes experience as an accountant, and later as purchasing agent, for the United Fuel Gas Company at Charleston, W. Va.; trust officer for the Central Trust Co., also of Charleston; business manager of McClung Hospital at

U.N. Probes New Incident In Palestine

JERUSALEM (AP)—U. N. officials today investigated new border violence in which Jordan gunfire killed three Israelis in an archaeological party and wounded 18 others. Jordan blamed the incident on one of her soldiers "suddenly taken by madness" and voiced regret.

The senior Jordan delegate to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission said the soldier seized a Bren gun and opened up on a group near Ramat Rahel settlement, just across the border, yesterday. He said the man was taken to a hospital for mental examination.

Israel, in a protest to the U. N. truce commission, gave a different version. A military spokesman said both machinegun and rifle fire raked the excursion party without warning.

The spokesman explained the party of 700 persons from an archaeological congress in Jerusalem was inspecting ancient sites in Jerusalem's southern limits.

Israeli sources said the shot came after the party had been standing in full view of a Jordan military post for at least half an hour. One witness said that before the firing began he saw four Jordan soldiers standing on a ridge near the Jordan-Israeli line.

Nearly Half Of Non-Military U.S. Aid Goes To Far East

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today the Far East got almost half of the $1½ billion obligated in non-military U. S. foreign aid during fiscal 1956.

The President's report on the last half of that year which ended June 30 left no doubt of the program's essential emphasis on defense against communism.

In his letter of transmittal to Congress, Eisenhower wrote: "The accomplishments during this six-month period under this program of mutual effort have further advanced the security, the economic progress and the well-being of the United States and our partners in the free world."

The report also noted: 1. Of the $760 million obligated for Far East nonmilitary aid during fiscal 1956, $726½ million was for "defense support." That's a phrase to cover the aid the United States gives a country to replace funds that country uses to build

Richwood, W. Va.; assistant administrator of Charleston General Hospital, a 300-bed hospital at Charleston; nearly a year of experience in a survey of hospitals under the West Virginia state department of health, and as administrator at Grafton City Hospital.

HE HAS held the latter post since February 1949. Grafton City Hospital has 66 beds and 10 bassinets.

In a statement announcing the appointment of Williamson to the local job, the board of governors said:

"An exhaustive investigation has been made, by members of the committee of Berger Hospital Board of Governors, into the qualifications and reputations of applicants for the position of administrator here, and in the committee's opinion, Berger Hospital is fortunate to have obtained the services of a man so well qualified."

"Berger Hospital has currently been attempting to improve procedures in order to secure accreditation from the American Hospital Association, which entails standards not easily attained."

"At Grafton Mr. Williamson took over administration of the hospital when it was seriously in arrears in bond and interest payments to RFC, employee morale very poor, food and housekeeping departments in a poor state, and the medical staff not organized for the best in patient care."

"Under Mr. Williamson, the financial situation has been cleared up, all departments improved, with new methods in the medical records department and revision of medical staff by-laws and with assistance by the doctors using the facilities at the hospital, patient care has been greatly improved and Provisional Accreditation has been granted by the American Hospital Association with full accreditation being considered."

"Extensive interviews in Grafton by the committee of the Berger Board of Governors indicate that the Grafton administrator has the respect of all hospital employees, and his family is respected and well liked in the Grafton community."

Beauty Is Wed To Golfer-Singer

DENVER (AP)—The 1956 Miss America, the former Sharon Kay Ritchie, and singer-golfer Don Cherry, 32, were honeymooning at a mountain hideaway today following their wedding Saturday.

They exchanged vows in a 23-minute, double-ring ceremony before 50 invited guests in Denver's Central Christian Church.

The couple first met five months ago when both made a public appearance in Cherry's hometown of Wichita Falls, Tex.

The couple will make their home in New York City.

'Furious Flossy' Skips Over Tip Of Louisiana

Sea-Going Tug Lost As Advance Gale Rips Through Mobile Bay

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The fifth tropical hurricane of the season, called Flossy, was hammering at the Alabama-Florida coastline this afternoon.

Furious Flossy had skipped over a small portion of the southern tip of Louisiana as the plowed northeastward through the Gulf of Mexico.

A 60-foot sea-going tug sank in Mobile Bay as heavy seas and gale winds lashed the coast in advance of the hurricane. A crew of four was rescued.

Residents of low-lying areas and beach sections were evacuated to emergency shelters in Mobile and Pensacola, Fla.

Approximately 1,000 were moved from Santa Rosa Island, near the mouth of Pensacola Bay after house to house warnings. Almost all are permanent residents of the resort island.

MORE THAN 500 persons were removed from coastal resort sections south of Mobile.

The 60-foot tug, Virginia D, sank in heavy seas in Mobile Bay about 10 miles south of the city.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in New Orleans said that winds around the center reached 100 miles per hour after raking across a tiny tip of Louisiana at 80 miles per hour.

The storm, originally pointed toward New Orleans, veered to the east in its northward march and removed the danger of floods to the city from Lake Pontchartrain.

Torrential rains were expected along the coasts of Mississippi, Alabama and Florida as the storm moved toward the mainland at 10 to 12 miles per hour.

Hurricane warnings went up from Grand Isle, La., to Fort Walton, Fla., while storm warnings were displayed from Morgan City, La., to St. Mark's Fla., and small craft warnings from Lake Charles, La., to Tampa, Fla.

Two apparent deaths lay in the wake of the storm and the fate of (Continued on Page Two)

She also broke a record seeing "The Bowery Boys Get Arthritis" 78 times, but that really doesn't count because she had loosened her girdle during the newsreel, and it got stuck between the seats for three days. Occasionally a smart aleck Usher will try to pull rank and threaten to toss her out after 15 or 16 performances, but that's no problem for an old bobby soxer like Mrs. Schwine. She just gives him a belt with her lunch box.

There was no official comment because of the absence of Nasser, meeting in Saudi Arabia with King Saud and President Shuhri Kuwaydi of Syria.

Arab League leaders in Cairo said a meeting of all nine Arab heads of state was under consideration "to coordinate collective measures" in the Suez crisis. The other Arab League members are Iraq, Lebanon, Jordan, Yemen, Libya and Sudan.

Nehru, who left Monday for a four-day visit to Saudi Arabia, denied his trip has anything to do with the Suez crisis. But Egyptian informants in Cairo said it was "quite possible" Nasser might stay on in Riyadh, the Saudi Arabian capital, to see the Indian leader.

Nehru's top foreign affairs expert, V. K. Krishna Menon, arrived in London to get from British officials their latest thinking on the Suez dispute. Menon last week conferred with Nasser in Cairo, and the Egyptians apparently hoped his discussions would furnish a basis for direct negotiations between the two sides.

Nationalists Rake German Ship Off China

HONG KONG (AP)—Nationalist Chinese gunkers raked the German freighter Monika, seeking shelter from typhoon Gilda off the China coast, although her flag was clearly visible, the West German consulate charged today.

The Defense Ministry in Taipei acknowledged the Nationalists fired warning shots at an unidentified ship west of Quemoy Saturday when the Monika was under attack. But it asserted the shots fell well clear of the vessel.

U.S. Offering Atom Program To World Body

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States offered today to put its whole atom-sharing program under the projected international atoms-for-peace agency.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth made the offer in opening general discussion at an 81-nation conference called here to complete a constitution for the agency.

He noted that this constitution, or statute, would set up safeguards against military misuse of atomic materials the agency distributed for peaceful purposes. He said:

"If this is done, the United States can look forward to making the agency the cornerstone of its international activities in the field of atomic energy."

The United States has bilateral agreements with 37 countries to supply them power or research reactors or radioactive isotopes. Britain, the Soviet Union and Canada are among other countries that give help under similar arrangements.

Wadsworth also revived President's proposal, made in a disarmament letter to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin last March 1, that all production of fissionable materials anywhere in the world "be devoted exclusively to peaceful purposes."

"Acceptance of this United States proposal," he said, "would mean the application of safeguards to the United States, the

Mother Irked By Indecision In Boy's Case

ATLANTA (AP)—The mother of 5-year-old Johnny Pair says she is "growing frantic" over the failure of her divorced husband to decide whether to permit an operation that may save the life of her sturdy little boy.

If the operation is performed it means blindness for Johnny. If it isn't, cancer probably will bring his death. Johnny's left eye was removed two years ago and then the malignancy spread to the right eye.

Mrs. Bessie Pair, a 32-year-old trimmer for a hat company, reiterated Sunday night that an operation must be performed, and the sooner the better.

She pointed out that on Sept. 12 doctors said that a few days delay in reaching a decision about an operation wouldn't matter. But that was 10 days ago, she said, "and now I'm growing frantic."

Her divorced husband, Arnold Pair, a 33-year-old machine operator, opposed the operation at first on the grounds he wanted Johnny to retain his sight as long as possible.

Later he said he would announce a decision after the morning service at the East Atlanta Baptist Church Sunday. He did not appear at the church. Later he said he still had not reached a decision.

Doctors say they must have the consent of both parents before performing the operation, even though Mrs. Pair was awarded custody of the lad by a judge.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Fifteen persons died in Ohio traffic accidents last weekend. Three persons were killed in other types of accidents.

New Administrator Named At Berger

Alva Williamson, Head Of Hospital In W. Va., Will Succeed Curtis

Alva J. Williamson, currently employed as administrator of the Grafton City Hospital at Grafton, W. Va., has been selected as the new administrator at Berger Hospital.

The hospital's board of governors announced here today that he will succeed Berger Administrator Tom Curtis, who is leaving to take a position in Virginia. Williamson will become the top administrative official at Berger on October 3.

Williamson, 50, of Scotch-Irish descent, is a member of the Methodist Church. He is married and has one son, who will be enrolled at Ohio State University.

The Williamsons plan to sell their home in Grafton and purchase one in Circleville.

Background of the new administrator includes experience as an accountant, and later as purchasing agent, for the United Fuel Gas Company at Charleston, W. Va.; trust officer for the Central Trust Co., also of Charleston; business manager of McClung Hospital at

U.N. Probes New Incident In Palestine

JERUSALEM (AP)—U. N. officials today investigated new border violence in which Jordan gunfire killed three Israelis in an archaeological party and wounded 18 others. Jordan blamed the incident on one of her soldiers "suddenly taken by madness" and voiced regret.

The senior Jordan delegate to the U. N. Mixed Jordan Armistice Commission said the soldier seized a Bren gun and opened up on a group near Ramat Rahel settlement, just across the border, yesterday. He said the man was taken to a hospital for mental examination.

Israel, in a protest to the U. N. truce commission, gave a different version. A military spokesman said both machinegun and rifle fire raked the excursion party without warning.

The spokesman explained the party of 700 persons from an archaeological congress in Jerusalem was inspecting ancient sites in Jerusalem's southern limits.

Israeli sources said the shot came after the party had been standing in full view of a Jordan military post for at least half an hour. One witness said that before the firing began he saw four Jordan soldiers standing on a ridge near the Jordan-Israeli line.

Teacher, 47, Dies

FRANKLIN (AP)—Francis E. Huber, 47, mathematics teacher, collapsed and died in the corridor of the high school today. Dr. Ralph Young, coroner, said death was due to a coronary condition.

Nearly Half Of Non-Military U.S. Aid Goes To Far East

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today the Far East got almost half of the $1½ billion obligated in non-military U. S. foreign aid during fiscal 1956.

The President's report on the last half of that year which ended June 30 left no doubt of the program's essential emphasis on defense against communism.

In his letter of transmittal to Congress, Eisenhower wrote: "The accomplishments during this six-month period under this program of mutual effort have further advanced the security, the economic progress and the well-being of the United States and our partners in the free world."

The report also noted: 1. Of the $760 million obligated for Far East non-military aid during fiscal 1956, $726½ million was for "defense support." That's a phrase to cover the aid the United States gives a country to replace funds that country uses to build

Richwood, W. Va.; assistant administrator of Charleston General Hospital, a 300-bed hospital at Charleston; nearly a year of experience in a survey of hospitals under the West Virginia state department of health, and as administrator at Grafton City Hospital.

HE HAS held the latter post since February 1949. Grafton City Hospital has 66 beds and 10 basins.

In a statement announcing the appointment of Williamson to the local job, the board of governors said:

"An exhaustive investigation has been made, by members of the committee of Berger Hospital Board of Governors, into the qualifications and reputations of applicants for the position of administrator here, and in the committee's opinion, Berger Hospital is fortunate to have obtained the services of a man so well qualified."

"Berger Hospital has currently been attempting to improve procedures in order to secure accreditation from the American Hospital Association, which entails standards not easily attained."

"At Grafton Mr. Williamson took over administration of the hospital when it was seriously in arrears in bond and interest payments to RFC, employee morale very poor, food and housekeeping departments in a poor state, and the medical staff not organized for the best in patient care."

"Under Mr. Williamson, the financial situation has been cleared up, all departments improved, with new methods in the medical records department and revision of medical staff by-laws and with assistance by the doctors using the facilities at the hospital, patient care has been greatly improved and Provisional Accreditation has been granted by the American Hospital Association with full accreditation being considered."

"Extensive interviews in Grafton by the committee of the Berger Board of Governors indicate that the Grafton administrator has the respect of all hospital employees, and his family is respected and well liked in the Grafton community."

Beauty Is Wed To Golfer-Singer

DENVER (AP)—The 1956 Miss America, the former Sharon Kay Ritchie, and singer-golfer Don Cherry, 32, were honeymooning at a mountain hideaway today following their wedding Saturday.

They exchanged vows in a 23-minute, double-ring ceremony before 50 invited guests in Denver's Central Christian Church.

The couple first met five months ago when both made a public appearance in Cherry's hometown of Wichita Falls, Tex.

The couple will make their home in New York City.

'Furious Flossy' Skips Over Tip Of Louisiana

Sea-Going Tug Lost As Advance Gale Rips Through Mobile Bay

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The fifth tropical hurricane of the season, called Flossy, was hammering at the Alabama-Florida coastline this afternoon.

Furious Flossy had skipped over a small portion of the southern tip of Louisiana as she plowed northeastward through the Gulf of Mexico.

A 60-foot sea-going tug sank in Mobile Bay as heavy seas and gale winds lashed the coast in advance of the hurricane. A crew of four was rescued.

Residents of low-lying areas and beach sections were evacuated to emergency shelters in Mobile and Pensacola, Fla.

Approximately 1,000 were moved from Santa Rosa Island, near the mouth of Pensacola Bay after house to house warnings. Almost all are permanent residents of the resort island.

MORE THAN 500 persons were removed from coastal resort sections south of Mobile.

The 60-foot tug, Virginia D, sank in heavy seas in Mobile Bay about 10 miles south of the city.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in New Orleans said that winds around the center reached 100 miles per hour after raking across a tiny tip of Louisiana at 80 miles per hour.

The storm, originally pointed toward New Orleans, veered to the east in its northward march and removed the danger of floods to the city from Lake Pontchartrain.

Torrential rains were expected along the coasts of Mississippi, Alabama and Florida as the storm moved toward the mainland at 10 to 12 miles per hour.

Hurricane warnings went up from Grand Isle, La., to Fort Walton, Fla., while storm warnings were displayed from Morgan City, La., to St. Mark's Fla., and small craft warnings from Lake Charles, La., to Tampa, Fla.

Two apparent deaths lay in the wake of the storm and the fate of (Continued on Page Two)

Legion Chief Asks War I Pensions

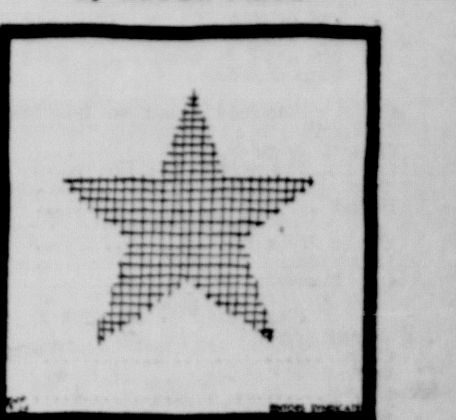

CLEVELAND (AP)—Support of the war veterans security bill, which would award pensions to World War I veterans, was urged here Sunday at a conference of the American Legion's 13th district.

The plea was made by Fred W. Thacker of Marion, state legion commander.

"This country should take care of its veterans," he said. "Congress should economize on foreign aid but not on veterans' benefits."

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"SCREEN STAR" This Doodle is dedicated to Mrs. Schwine, who is one of the biggest movie fans I know of (345 pounds). She's seen "Gone With the Wind" 12 times, "The Jolson Story" 22 times and "Scarface" 31 times. She also broke a record seeing "The Bowery Boys Get Arthritis" 78 times, but that really doesn't count because she had loosened her girdle during the newsreel, and it got stuck between the seats for three days. Occasionally a smart aleck Urshy will try to pull rank and threaten to toss her out after 15 or 16 performances, but that's no problem for an old bobby soxer like Mrs. Schwine. She just gives him a belt with her lunch box.

Dulles Says U.S. Set For Suez Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and France were assured today of full United States support in their decision to take the Suez Canal dispute with Egypt to the U. N. Security Council Wednesday.

Secretary of State Dulles said Sunday he "thinks well" of the move and believes it can lead to a peaceful and just solution of the canal crisis "if Egypt wants a peaceful solution at all."

In a discussion of the prolonged Suez controversy, Dulles also made these other points:

1. He will suggest to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey immediately that the present freeze on Egyptian funds in this country be broadened to prevent the payment of canal tolls directly to Egypt by American ship operators. The tolls would be paid, instead, into blocked accounts in this country. This tightening of the economic screws on Egypt is designed to bring American policy on this point into line with that of Britain and France.

2. American vessels going through Suez would, in Dulles' opinion, "hesitate a long time before taking a Soviet pilot on board." The Egyptians have been hiring some Soviet pilots. Dulles implied that no ship captain could tell whether the pilot might also be a spy for Russia.

3. THE DANGER of war over the canal has "not been ended" although Dulles thinks "it has been reduced" by recent moves of the Western powers.

Dulles said he opposes use of military measures except possibly as a last resort, but added, "I don't think you can go on forever asking people not to resort to force."

He said that the users' association, which would hire its own canal pilots, collect tolls and make payments to Egypt, offered the possibility of arranging a practical, day-to-day system of getting ships through the canal. The arrangement, he said, should "help the United Nations very much."

California Brush Fire Is Battled

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Firefighters battled today to ring a "fire storm" that has burned more than 8,500 acres of brush and timber near the Lake Arrowhead mountain resort.

The "fire storm," so-called because it can generate its own intense winds, swept through the Crest Park summer home tract, about five miles east of the lake in the San Bernardino Mountains.

U. S. Forestry Service spokesman said the area is still "too hot" to inspect closely but at least 20 homes were destroyed.

Earl Godwin Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Earl Godwin, 75, dean of Washington radio correspondents, died in his sleep early today at his summer home in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

'Furious Flossy' Skips Over Top Of Louisiana

another 40 persons was in doubt. The 40 were trapped on offshore oil rigs and disabled craft in the Gulf of Mexico.

The two men assumed drowned were on the motor vessel Carport below the mouth of the Mississippi River. One of the men reportedly fell overboard and the other leaped into the churning waters of the Gulf to aid him.

THE COASTAL area at Grand Isle, La., was the first to feel the fury of the storm. Residents of the stringbean-shaped island fled their homes late Sunday. Some 200 stayed at the Coast Guard station and others scurried to the mainland as the island went 18 inches under water.

There was no word from 17 men trapped on oil rigs planted in the Gulf off the Louisiana coast. Last reports said a barge tied up by one of the rigs had been blown loose by the screaming winds and was battering the unsteady rig.

Schools in New Orleans and along the coastal area were closed, and Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel said special prayers that the area be spared a major disaster.

WOMEN'S CLUB FEDERATION IN ELECTION YEAR FIGHT FOR EQUAL RIGHTS ACTION

By Central Press Association
WASHINGTON — For the 21 million women who work, hottest election items this autumn will be the Equal Rights amendment and its closest of kin—equal pay for equal work. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs—oldest and largest national organization of women who work—is the leader of the fight for equal rights.

Miss Hazel Palmer, of Sedalia, Mo., newly-elected national president of the federation, and her 170,000 federation members have vowed an all-out grass roots campaign before election day.

To kick off the campaign, Miss Palmer spoke before both the Democratic and Republican platform committees with the result that both parties put equal rights and equal pay planks in their 1956 platforms.

WASHINGTON—Love light is shining in the eyes of Republicans and Democrats these days, and both are going courting! However, the object of their affections is the same—the female voter—and the way she responds to their proposals come Nov. 6 will determine who is elected President of the United States.

In the last presidential election, according to estimates of the American Heritage foundation, 17,600,000 women voted for Eisenhower, and 12,700,000 supported Stevenson. Thus, the girls favored Eisenhower by almost 5 million votes—three-quarters of his victory margin.

No one can foretell what the women of America will be thinking when they step inside the voting booths this year. In 1952 one of the things on their collective mind was an end to the war in Korea. However, analysts say that female voters seem to be more conservative than the males, and tend to support the party which is right-of-center.

If so, the Democrats had better get busy because past performance indicates that a record total of about 40 million women will visit the polls this November—more than the total number of votes America cast when Franklin D. Roosevelt first was elected in 1932!

PAPA MAY find excuses to sit home election day, but not Mama. There's been a rising feminine flood to the presidential polls ever since the Nineteenth Amendment gave women the vote back in 1920.

In 1948, for example, 34 per cent more women voted than in 1944; and in 1952, 39 per cent more women voted than in 1948.

No wonder that the women voter will be wooed so fervently between now and election day. The major political parties have organized special women's divisions with big budgets aimed at influencing the way she votes. There will be all sorts of meetings, teas, rallies, parties and door-to-door visitations, all designed to win favor from the lady of the house.

NOT ONLY will the political campaign committees spend millions on Mother, she'll also be the darling of many religious, civil and community organizations—

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: The problem is about my young son, by a former marriage. I married my present husband when Johnny (I call my son) was still a baby; consequently he doesn't know that Bill (my husband) isn't his father. Bill is very strict with the boy. No matter how well Johnny does a thing, it is never good enough to satisfy Bill. And if Johnny doesn't answer and come running the first time he is called, Bill gives him a stiff lecture and sends him to his room for the balance of the day. He is forever picking on him for the way he walks, talks, eats, etc.

My husband keeps telling me there is something wrong with Johnny, because he has started to lie, steal and rebel against all rules.

Fleet Revenooer Dies At Age 72

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Many a Kentucky moonshiner was apprehended because Charles D. Campbell was fleet of foot. Campbell, 72 who died Sunday, developed his speed as a pioneer prohibition agent and later a "revenooer." When he was 45, Campbell said he could run 100 yards in 11 seconds.

Akron Milk Producers Get Premium

AKRON, Ohio — Higher prices for dairy farmers shipping milk into Cleveland and Canton may follow a 25-cent premium which producers negotiated last weekend with six Akron dairies.

The 25-cent premium on class I milk still left the hundredweight price below the $5 goal set recently by the Akron Milk Producers, Inc. It did, however, break the practice of recent years for dairies to pay only the minimum federal order price.

The August federal order price in the Akron area was $4.68, and that figure is not expected to change much in September and October. The 25-cent premium was negotiated to cover the period from Sept. 16 to Dec. 31.

Roger P. Buckley, manager of Akron Milk Producers, said that in the 3½-month period the premium will mean more than $200,000 to Akron area dairy farmers.

Because the price of milk was raised a cent a quart in Akron earlier this month, no retail price increase is expected to result from the additional payment to producers.

Termite damage in the United States is estimated at 100 million dollars a year.

Formica Aides Call Off Strike

CINCINNATI — Production is slated to start again at two Formica Co. plants here today after union employees voted to end a wildcat walkout.

About 1,200 members of the International Electrical Workers Union Sunday approved a recommendation by union officials that they end a walkout that started last Friday.

A union spokesman said the strike developed over firing of a long-time company worker.

The two plants jointly employ about 1,700 workers.

WOMEN'S CLUB FEDERATION IN ELECTION YEAR FIGHT FOR EQUAL RIGHTS ACTION

By Central Press Association
WASHINGTON — For the 21 million women who work, hottest election items this autumn will be the Equal Rights amendment and its closest kin—equal pay for equal work. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs—oldest and largest national organization of women who work—is the leader of the fight for equal rights.

Miss Hazel Palmer, of Sedalia, Mo., newly-elected national president of the federation, and her 170,000 federation members have vowed an all-out grass roots campaign before election day.

To kick off the campaign, Miss Palmer spoke before both the Democratic and Republican platform committees with the result that both parties put equal rights and equal pay planks in their 1956 platforms.

Miss Hazel Palmer

By JERRY KLEIN

Central Press Association Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Love light is shining in the eyes of Republicans and Democrats these days, and both are going courting! However, the object of their affections is the same—the female voter—and the way she responds to their proposals come Nov. 6 will determine who is elected President of the United States.

In the last presidential election, according to estimates of the American Heritage foundation, 17,600,000 women voted for Eisenhower, and 12,700,000 supported Stevenson. Thus, the girls favored Eisenhower by almost 5 million votes—three-quarters of his victory margin.

No one can foretell what the women of America will be thinking when they step inside the voting booths this year. In 1952 one of the things on their collective mind was an end to the war in Korea. However, analysts say that female voters seem to be more conservative than the males, and tend to support the party which is right-of-center.

If so, the Democrats had better get busy because past performance indicates that a record total of about 40 million women will visit the polls this November—more than the total number of votes America cast when Franklin D. Roosevelt first was elected in 1932!

PAPA MAY find excuses to sit home election day, but not Mama. There's been a rising feminine flood to the presidential polls ever since the Nineteenth Amendment gave women the vote back in 1920.

In 1948, for example, 34 per cent more women voted than in 1944; and in 1952, 39 per cent more women voted than in 1948.

No wonder that the women voter will be wooed so fervently between now and election day. The major political parties have organized special women's divisions with big budgets aimed at influencing the way she votes. There will be all sorts of meetings, teas, rallies, parties and door-to-door visitations, all designed to win favor from the lady of the house.

NOT ONLY will the political campaign committees spend millions on Mother, she'll also be the darling of many religious, civil and community organizations — such as the League of Women Voters—who want her to vote for what-ever candidate.

Organized labor will be talking politics to the one-third of America's workers who are women. And through these women unionists, Labor hopes also to reach the ears of the non-working women who belong to the families of union men.

"It will be a long time until we vote our full strength, but more and more women will come to the polls every election," says Mrs. Esther Murray of the AFL-CIO committee on political education.

MRS. MURRAY directs the eastern division of the committee's women's activities in Washington, while Mrs. Margaret Thornburgh heads the western division, in Tulsa, Okla.

"This year we are making a bigger effort to get women to recognize the importance of their ballot," says Mrs. Murray. "Women are becoming increasingly aware and active politically."

Indeed, while no woman has been proposed for President in November, there have been two women governors and 60 members of the gentler sex have served in Congress. There now are 16 in the national legislature—an all time high—and about 300 in various state legislatures.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: The problem is about my young son, by a former marriage. I married my present husband when Johnny (I'll call my son) was still a baby; consequently he doesn't know that Bill (my husband) isn't his father. Bill is very strict with the boy. No matter how well Johnny does a thing, it is never good enough to satisfy Bill. And if Johnny doesn't answer and come running the first time he is called, Bill gives him a stiff lecture and sends him to his room for the balance of the day. He is forever picking on him for the way he walks, talks, eats, etc. My husband keeps telling me there is something wrong with Johnny, because he has started to lie, steal and rebel against all rules.

My son has had several tests by doctors, and they say he is a good healthy boy, but that he needs love from his father; a father to play with an understanding him—as a child of nine—instead of being his tiler. Johnny's teacher says he has a defeatist attitude, and something should be done about it soon. I've discussed all this with Bill; also with the doctor, in Bill's presence; yet Bill does nothing to change.

V. P.

DEAR V. P.: Your husband's behavior is destructively hostile to Johnny. It indicates that he, the stepfather, is emotionally sick, due to unfortunate defects in his own rearing, that warped and damaged his personality in formative years.

He is jealously domineering in relation to Johnny, meanly resentful of the child's dependency upon your love and care—badgering him without letup, primarily because the lad exists, and secondarily because Bill isn't man enough to be a dad to him.

As of now, Johnny is taking Bill's attitude at face value—namely, that he (Johnny) isn't worth hell-room, as the phrase goes. Feeling damned, he is putting himself in the worst light, compulsively, as if to end the argument, and have the struggle over with—the struggle to please, in which he hasn't succeeded; and never can, he thinks.

You have reason to fear for your son's welfare. His mental health and social outlook are being ruined. SHORT OF WAR

IF THE UNITED STATES allocates $500 million to West Europe as a subsidy if it is found to be necessary to by-pass the Suez Canal would be reminiscent of the Berlin airlift. It would be an effort to hold a vital area of the world against communist mischief short of war.

The United States is equipped for the task. It can mobilize surplus tankers, left over from World War II and deteriorating in inlets along the coasts. Foreign aid appropriations can be shifted about to meet various crises. In this instance the Export-Import (World) bank a mighty implement in the struggle to combat communism, would probably be called upon.

By-passing the canal could be a crippling economic blow to Egypt, one of the poorest nations in the world. Whether the red mischief makers would have the influence to persuade Asian nations to nationalize their oil and deny it to the West seems like a preposterous question, but it is being asked. The economies of the oil-producing countries have little other support, and there is no apparent market for their oil behind the iron curtain.

When the old League of Nations was unable to assemble an international force to keep the peace, it relied on economic sanctions. It was an experiment that failed completely. What the results could be if sanctions were applied to Egypt is debatable. It is evident, however, that Washington will try everything short of war to keep the oil moving.

COLONIALIST GIVES UP

WHILE THE attention of the French has been directed largely to the Suez crisis an important defection on the entire Arab issue took place at home.

It came in a speech by Marshal Alphonse Juin, French army hero who as postwar chief of staff ordered the ruthless repression of the first big Algerian rebellion in 1945. He has been a constant advocate of strong methods against the Arab rebels in France's North African colonies.

But to the stunned surprise of Frenchmen at Vichy, Juin said, "I believe the solution lies in a federative status that would leave Algeria largely free of central control and would include a managing government adapted to the country's own personality." France should "only intervene in matters relating to the general economy, foreign relations and internal security."

Coming from the most violent critic of any suggestion of a separate status for Algeria, this amazed the French. But the French government immediately took steps to do something about drafting a "federative status" for Algeria. Juin's switch seemed to spark a realization that the old hopes are doomed to failure.

French colonists in Algeria, who had regarded Marshal Juin as their most powerful advocate, are reported to be stunned as a result of his defection.

These Days

Democracy has become a very fashionable word not only in this country but in much of the world. It means, of course, rule by the people, but nowhere has a system been established by which the whole people govern.

Always there are ruling groups, mastering groups, manipulating groups that either find ways of so agitating the people as to confuse them or who feed them false slogans, or create dishonest situations. What it comes to is that in the 19th Century when there was a genuine striving toward Democracy, men did not need to shriek that they believed in it as a way of life.

Today, when in some countries it is even dangerous to suggest that what is called Democracy is a bluff, a fraud, a means to control men, everybody shouts that Democracy is the greatest of all systems of life. But they do not mean Democracy at all.

They mean egalitarianism, the Utopian concept of the French Revolution, the assumption that all men are in fact equal even though one may be a genius and the other a moron. The moron has one vote; the genius has one vote.

The dope has one vote; the best informed man has one vote. Whoever has a vote is the equal of anyone else who has a vote. To question that thesis is to oppose civil rights, human rights, the Bill of Rights. It used to be that the Senate of the United States attracted to it elder statesmen men who had already achieved distinction and who were expected to act as a brake upon the more radical House of Representatives. That is why Senators were chosen for a six-year term while a member of the House of Representatives was chosen only for two years.

The Representatives were and are chosen on the basis of population in their districts; Senators are chosen two from each state, two from small states such as Delaware and Rhode Island; only two from such enormous states as New York, California and Texas.

The concept of our republican government was a system of checks and balances. No branch of government, it was planned, was to be so strong as to become tyrannous; the government was not, in all its branches, to become too dependent upon what we today call public opinion which is so whimsical that what was said by one side in 1952 is now the doctrine of the other side.

It is like the man from Akron who wearied of his wife not because she was a nag or a shrew but only because she had been his wife for 24 years and he was weary of her presence.

So he went to Paris, Brussels, Istanbul, Casablanca and everywhere he lived aggressively and expensively, as he had never done with his old wife, and everywhere he surrounded himself with young and beautiful women. So notorious was his conduct that he became a celebrity and all the gossip columnists wrote about him.

But his old wife, she just stayed in Akron and waited for him to come home because, as she told her bridge club who pitied her, "He will discover, sooner or later, that what he thinks he is looking for is the same in Akron as it is in Paris."

$100,000 a year, by way of illustration. Hundreds of jobs seeking the man pay from $10,000 to $50,000 a year. His agency has listings of 50,000 jobs paying from $3,000 upward.

Many persons do not realize how job opportunities have sprouted recently, he points out. The man in the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket who has not looked around recently doesn't realize what he may be missing, according to Barton. There may be someone willing to pay him three or four times that figure.

Or $100,000, perhaps.

Grandpa Sneezed A Fortune

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Guess what common household article, invented 80 years ago this week, is enjoying its greatest boom ever?

Well, sir, it's the old-fashioned carpet sweeper, now thoroughly glamorized.

"This should be the best year in history," said Melville R. Bissell III, 35, dominant manufacturer in the field. "World output may reach 3 million units this year, and that figure may double by 1961."

An attack of hay fever led to the invention of the carpet sweeper, the biggest improvement in home cleaning since the first cave lady improvised a broom by gripping together a handful of twigs to brush the debris from her den.

The hay fever victim was Bissell's grandfather, Melville R.

Bissell, 32-year-old owner of a crockery store in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"The crockery came packed in straw," recalled Bissell, "and the dust raised when they swept out the straw made grandpa sneeze something awful. He decided he had to do something about it."

The result was the first practical carpet sweeper, patented by grandpa Bissell Sept. 19, 1876. Later he began to manufacture it.

He died a few years later, however. It was his wife, Anna, who really put the carpet sweeper over. She hired a governess for her five children, took over the factory, remained a power in the industry until her death in 1934 at 88.

When the electric vacuum cleaner came along, everyone

predicted it would do to the carpet sweeper what the auto did to the horse. But it no more hurt the sale of carpet sweepers than carpet sweepers to the market for brooms. Housewives still find they can use all three.

"We may have made a mistake in not going in for vacuum cleaners," admitted Bissell. "As a matter of fact we did, when they first came out. But the early vacuum cleaners required a lot of repairs. We were afraid a gadget that had to be fixed so often would ruin our reputation, so we dropped it."

"That's one of the troubles with carpet sweepers. They practically never wear out. People occasionally bring us one that is 50 to 60 years old and want us to rebuild it. Now we have adopted a policy not to tinker with any over 25 years old."

CHAPTER 18

EKLUND thought of the possibility of taking the rifles straight to Major Blake and telling him what he knew. Kinney would retaliate by telling on him, but it was not this much at stake, he'd take the risk if he could be sure of results. There was the rub, the doubt that he could accomplish anything by such a course.

Basically, it would be his word against Kinney's, and Kinney would flatly deny any part in it. A clincher would be the establishment of the fact that Eklund was a wanted man, a deserter. Blake would probably believe Kinney instead of him, and the trader would be in a stronger position than before, while he would have made a useless sacrifice.

There was too much involved to act hastily. The welfare, perhaps the very lives of the settlers, could hinge on what he did. Kinney was leagued with the post, but he was working against it. When a man turned renegade, he was apt to go all the way.

And if he was made a prisoner, or worse—what would happen to Narcissa? She'd be completely at the mercy of a man who didn't know the meaning of that word.

On one point, Eklund had no doubt. These guns must not be turned over to the Indians. On the other hand, it would be better to go warily for a while, until sure of his position. He was several miles out from town now, and a deep, brush-lined coulee was conveniently at hand. Eklund pulled into it, hobbled the horses, and snatched a few hours' sleep.

It was still night when he awoke. A rocky ledge arose at one side of the coulee, and at its base was a small, cavern-like opening, with many good-sized stones scattered about. He put the boxes there, piled rocks over and around to hide them from any chance observation, and then hitched up his team.

Oates waited in a fret of impatience, after Kinney had left. He'd been six weeks in the sun, and that had restored his appearance almost to normal, ironing out the prison pallor. But before that he had been five years behind bars, and half a decade is a long stretch. Anything resembling a prison made him nervous, and even to wait for superintendence in the guardhouse was too long.

But at least he was working for a good boss, and Kinney, knowing how long he had been a convict, was losing no time in arranging to set him free. Finding that he was pacing the room like a caged beast, Oates forced himself to sink down on the cot and relax. The sentry, pacing slowly outside, seemed more amused than otherwise at his frenzy.

He was the only occupant of the guardhouse, which was in his favor. And he supposed that fellow out there was his friend, in a manner of speaking. Kinney had assured him that he'd have everything fixed—

Which would make Kinney out either a magician or a liar. Oates sprang up, his gaze raking wickedly about, considering that aspect. He'd served a stint in the army, and certainly he knew enough about prisons. So now his common sense assured him that no civilian would be in a position to guarantee what Kinney had promised. At least, it was so unlikely that Oates smelled a double-cross.

And what could be more logical? If he was out, his usefulness to Kinney was ended, for he was known now to the army and would be branded an outlaw. Of course Kinney couldn't spring him, caught red-handed as he had been, but neither could Kinney risk having him tell what he knew. Which made the answer obvious. Let him be killed, trying to escape, and the problem was solved.

He opened his mouth to shout at the sentry, to demand that he be taken to the major, to tell what he knew. Then he closed it again. There was a chance that Kinney had been playing square with him, and to talk would spoil everything. It certainly wouldn't gain him his freedom. Kinney would flatly deny his story, and the trader was a man of influence in this country, while he was a stranger, caught in the act of running guns. There was no question as to whose word they'd take.

Once more, Oates sank down on the cot. He was in a bad fix, and it was up to him to use his own head to get out of it. One slip and he'd be a dead man.

A big black fly buzzed monotonously near the ceiling, zooming back and forth in an endless quest for freedom. Outside, as the shadows grew long and came close to merging, there came the ceremony of lowering the colors, the boom of the sunset gun. Oates watched from his barred window, gnawing his lip.

These men in blue represented a world with which he was in conflict and would be till he died. Keep him here a scant few days extra, while the telegraph made a mockery of time and space and records were consulted, and the commandant would know that he was wanted as a liar, an escapee in which break three prisoners on guards had been killed. If they got him back, it would be the rope next time.

So he had to get out, tonight. And if Kinney was working a double-cross, as he most likely was—

Oates smoothed his face as he heard someone coming with his supper. This was the time. It was win or die, and there could be no half-way measures. The hour couldn't be better, for men's eyes were not yet fully changed from the suddenly lost sun, and its glaring world, to the shifting currents of the night.

The door opened, and a guard came in, carrying a tray. It gave forth an appetizing aroma, and Oates was hungry, but this was a meal he'd never enjoy. No telling when he would eat again, but that couldn't be helped. He had his plan, and he jumped fast, coming out of the shadows. He heard the guard's startled grunt, as the tray crashed to the floor with a spilling of heavy crockery and tin cup, but he had his hand on the guard's noisier revolver, and he raised it and struck once, and the barrel was an ugly club on a man's skull. Oates knew, He'd had his own head laid open in similar fashion.

He didn't waste time with a second blow, for the guard was going down, and he'd be out cold for a while. Oates reached the door and was through it. Temptation was strong in him to shoot it out with the surprised sentry, but he resisted that. Kinney had said the sentry would have to shoot at him, to make it look right, but that he'd be careful to miss. So long as there was a chance that Kinney had really arranged it, he'd better play it that way. Otherwise, his chances of winning clear of the post would be cut in half.

Oates ran, clutching the revolver, diving for the deeper shadows alongside the guardhouse as the sentry brought his rifle up and red flame made a stabbing bayonet from its muzzle—a bayonet that could rip the vitals out of a man—

As this was doing to him, it was like the pound of a sledge hammer in his stomach, the kick of a mule. Oates gasped and felt his feet go out from under him, while agony flamed in a savage sweep through his vitals.

Rising Costs Make Hospital Bills High

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SO you think hospital bills are too high? Most patients complain about hospital costs, you know.

Well, as the politicians say, "Let's look at the record." Perhaps it will help you to understand things a little better.

Increased Costs

Hospital costs have increased drastically during the last decade, there's no doubt about that. Ten years ago, the average cost per patient per day in a short-term stay at a general hospital in the United States was $9.39. By 1954, according to the latest available statistics, it was $21.76.

This is an increase of 132 per cent. The Consumer Price Index jumped only 37.6 per cent during the same period. While the consumer index has risen only 0.5 per cent per year since 1951, the daily cost per patient has jumped 7 per cent per year.

Primary Factor

Ray E. Brown, Superintendent of the University of Chicago Clinics and president of the American Hospital Association, says that labor costs are a primary factor in this cost boost. Nearly two-thirds of the more than $5,000,000,000 spent by American hospitals in 1954 was for payrolls.

The only way hospitals can cut labor costs is to have less skilled personnel take over the work of skilled personnel. A few hospitals are already being criticized for starting in this direction. In industry, salary increases are absorbed somewhat by increases in labor productivity. This productivity increase is not possible in hospitals.

Another factor in boosting hospital labor costs, Superintendent Brown points out, is that there is far more competition for female help from industry and labor than before World War II.

Overhead Continues

Remember, too, that overhead continues on empty beds. And believe it or not, the average occupancy of hospital beds has dropped during the last nine years from 72 to 71 per cent.

Because of shorter working hours and new services and procedures required in diagnosis and treatment, hospitals need more employees these days. Back in 1946 hospitals required 1.48 employees per patient per day. By 1954 they needed 1.98 employees.

Your hospital bills are high, but hospital costs are higher, too. However, you get more and better care today than ever before.

SHORT OF WAR

IF THE UNITED STATES allocates $500 million to West Europe as a subsidy if it is found to be necessary to by-pass the Suez Canal would be reminiscent of the Berlin airlift. It would be an effort to hold a vital area of the world against communist mischief short of war.

The United States is equipped for the task. It can mobilize surplus tankers, left over from World War II and deteriorating in inlets along the coasts. Foreign aid appropriations can be shifted about to meet various crises. In this instance the Export-Import (World) bank a mighty implement in the struggle to combat communism, would probably be called upon.

By-passing the canal could be a crippling economic blow to Egypt, one of the poorest nations in the world. Whether the red mischief makers would have the influence to persuade Asian nations to nationalize their oil and deny it to the West seems like a preposterous question, but it is being asked. The economies of the oil-producing countries have little other support, and there is no apparent market for their oil behind the iron curtain.

When the old League of Nations was unable to assemble an international force to keep the peace, it relied on economic sanctions. It was an experiment that failed completely. What the results could be if sanctions were applied to Egypt is debatable. It is evident, however, that Washington will try everything short of war to keep the oil moving.

COLONIALIST GIVES UP

WHILE THE attention of the French has been directed largely to the Suez crisis an important defection on the entire Arab issue took place at home.

It came in a speech by Marshal Alphonse Juin, French army hero who as postwar chief of staff ordered the ruthless repression of the first big Algerian rebellion in 1945. He has been a constant advocate of strong methods against the Arab rebels in France's North African colonies.

But to the stunned surprise of Frenchmen at Vichy, Juin said, "I believe the solution lies in a federative status that would leave Algeria largely free of central control and would include a managing government adapted to the country's own personality." France should "only intervene in matters relating to the general economy, foreign relations and internal security."

Coming from the most violent critic of any suggestion of a separate status for Algeria, this amazed the French. But the French government immediately took steps to do something about drafting a "federative status" for Algeria. Juin's switch seemed to spark a realization that the old hopes are doomed to failure.

French colonists in Algeria, who had regarded Marshal Juin as their most powerful advocate, are reported to be stunned as a result of his defection.

These Days

Democracy has become a very fashionable word not only in this country but in much of the world. It means, of course, rule by the people, but nowhere has a system been established by which the whole people govern.

Always there are ruling groups, mastering groups, manipulating groups that either find ways of so agitating the people as to confuse them or who feed them false slogans, or create dishonest situations. What it comes to is that in the 19th Century when there was a genuine striving toward Democracy, men did not need to shriek that they believed in it as a way of life.

Today, when in some countries it is even dangerous to suggest that what is called Democracy is a bluff, a fraud, a means to control men, everybody shouts that Democracy is the greatest of all systems of life. But they do not mean Democracy at all.

They mean egalitarianism, the Utopian concept of the French Revolution, the assumption that all men are in fact equal even though one may be a genius and the other a moron. The moron has one vote; the genius has one vote.

The dope has one vote; the best informed man has one vote. Whoever has a vote is the equal of anyone else who has a vote. To question that thesis is to oppose civil rights, human rights, the Bill of Rights. It used to be that the Senate of the United States attracted to it elder statesmen men who had already achieved distinction and who were expected to act as a brake upon the more radical House of Representatives. That is why Senators were chosen for a six-year term while a member of the House of Representatives was chosen only for two years.

The Representatives were and are chosen on the basis of population in their districts; Senators are chosen two from each state, two from small states such as Delaware and Rhode Island; only two from such enormous states as New York, California and Texas.

The concept of our republican government was a system of checks and balances. No branch of government, it was planned, was to be so strong as to become tyrannous; the government was not, in all its branches, to become too dependent upon what we today call public opinion which is so whimsical that what was said by one side in 1952 is now the doctrine of the other side.

It is like the man from Akron who wearied of his wife not because she was a nag or a shrew but only because she had been his wife for 24 years and he was weary of her presence.

So he went to Paris, Brussels, Istanbul Casablanca and everywhere he lived aggressively and expensively, as he had never done with his old wife, and everywhere he surrounded himself with young and beautiful women. So notorious was his conduct that he became a celebrity and all the gossip columnists wrote about him.

But his old wife, she just stayed in Akron and waited for him to come home because, as she told her bridge club who pitied her, "He will discover, sooner or later, that what he thinks he is looking for is the same in Akron as it is in Paris."

$100,000 a year, by way of illustration. Hundreds of jobs seeking the man pay from $10,000 to $50,000 a year. His agency has listings of 50,000 jobs paying from $3,000 upward.

Many persons do not realize how job opportunities have sprouted recently, he points out. The man in the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket who has not looked around recently doesn't realize what he may be missing, according to Barton. There may be someone willing to pay him three or four times that figure.

Or $100,000, perhaps.

Grandpa Sneezed A Fortune

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U-P)—Guess what common household article, invented 80 years ago this week, is enjoying its greatest boom ever? Well, sir, it's the old-fashioned carpet sweeper, now thoroughly glorified.

"This should be the best year in history," said Melville R. Bissell III, 35, dominant manufacturer in the field. "World output may reach 3 million units this year, and that figure may double by 1961."

An attack of hay fever led to the invention of the carpet sweeper, the biggest improvement in home cleaning since the first cave lady improvised a broom by gripping together a handful of twigs to brush the debris from her den.

The hay fever victim was Bissell's grandfather, Melville R.

Bissell, 32-year-old owner of a crockery store in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"The crockery came packed in straw," recalled Bissell, "and the dust raised when they swept out the straw made grandpa sneeze something awful. He decided he had to do something about it."

The result was the first practical carpet sweeper, patented by grandpa Bissell Sept. 19, 1876. Later he began to manufacture it.

He died a few years later, however. It was his wife, Anna, who really put the carpet sweeper over. She hired a governess for her five children, took over the factory, remained a power in the industry until her death in 1934 at 88.

When the electric vacuum cleaner came along, everyone

predicted it would do to the carpet sweeper what the auto did to the horse. But it no more hurt the sale of carpet sweepers than the market for brooms. Housewives still find they can use all three.

"We may have made a mistake in not going in for vacuum cleaners," admitted Bissell. "As a matter of fact we did, when they first came out. But the early vacuum cleaners required a lot of repairs. We were afraid a gadget that had to be fixed so often would ruin our reputation, so we dropped it."

"That's one of the troubles with carpet sweepers. They practically never wear out. People occasionally bring us one that is 50 to 60 years old and want us to rebuild it. Now we have adopted a policy not to tinker with any over 25 years old."

CHAPTER 18

EKLUND thought of the possibility of taking the rifles straight to Major Blake and telling him what he knew. Kinney would retaliate by telling on him, but it was not this which deterred Eklund. With so much at stake, he'd take the risk if he could be sure of results. There was the rub, the doubt that he could accomplish anything by such a course.

Basically, it would be his word against Kinney's, and Kinney would flatly deny any part in it. A clincher would be the establishment of the fact that Eklund was a wanted man, a deserter. Blake would probably believe Kinney instead of him, and the trader would be in a stronger position than before, while he would have made a useless sacrifice.

There was too much involved to act hastily. The welfare, perhaps the very lives of the settlers, could hinge on what he did. Kinney was leagued with the post, but he was working against it. When a man turned renegade, he was apt to go all the way.

And if he was made a prisoner, or worse—what would happen to Narcissa? She'd be completely at the mercy of a man who didn't know the meaning of that word.

On one point, Eklund had no doubts. These guns must not be turned over to the Indians. On the other hand, it would be better to go warily for a while, until sure of his position. He was several miles out from town now, and a deep, brushlined coulee was conveniently at hand. Eklund pulled into it, hobbled the horses, and snatched a few hours' sleep.

It was still night when he awoke. A rocky ledge arose at one side of the coulee, and at its base was a small, cavernlike opening, with many good-sized stones scattered about. He put the boxes there, piled rocks over and around to hide them from any chance observation, and then hitched up his team.

Oates waited in a fret of impatience, after Kinney had left. He'd been six weeks in the sun, and had lost his appearance almost to normal, ironing out the prison pallor. But before that he had been five years behind bars, and half a decade in a long stretch. Anything resembling a prison made him nervous, and even to wait for suppers in the guardhouse was too long. But at least he was working for a good boss, and Kinney, knowing how long he had been a convict, was losing no time in ar-

Overhead Continues
Remember, too, that overhead continues on empty beds. And believe it or not, the average occupancy of hospital beds has dropped during the last nine years from 72 to 71 per cent.

Because of shorter working hours and new services and procedures required in diagnosis and treatment, hospitals need more employees these days. Back in 1946 hospitals required 148 employees per patient per day. By 1954 they needed 198 employees.

Your hospital bills are high, but hospital costs are higher, too. However, you get more and better care today than ever before.

Primary Factor
Ray E. Brown, superintendent of the University of Chicago Clinics and president of the American Hospital Association, says that labor costs are a primary factor in this cost boost. Nearly two-thirds of the more than $5,000,000 spent by American hospitals in 1954 was for payroll.

The only way hospitals can cut labor costs is to have less skilled personnel take over the work of skilled personnel. A few hospitals are already being criticized for starting in this direction. In industry, salary increases are absorbed somewhat by increases in labor productivity. This productivity increase is not possible in hospitals.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
T. E.: A cousin of mine has tuberculosis of the kidney. Is it contagious?
Answer: Usually, tuberculosis of the kidney is not readily transmitted to another person.

Miss Hughes-Mr. Gettinger Plan December Wedding

Mrs. Clara Belle Spangler Hughes of 127 W. High St. and Maj. Thomas C. Hughes of Abilene, Tex., announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Ann, to Mr. David W. Gettinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Gettinger of Columbus.

Miss Hughes is a graduate of Circleville High School, class of 1954. She received her degree in Dental Hygiene from Ohio State University, Columbus, in June.

She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and Alpha Kappa Gamma Dental Hygiene sorority. Mr. Gettinger is a graduate of Grandview Heights High School and is a senior in the college of commerce at Ohio State University. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and Phi Eta Sigma honorary.

The wedding will take place December 26 in the First Community Church of Columbus.

Treasurer And Secretary Elected At Nurses' Meet

A new treasurer and a corresponding secretary were elected at the September meeting of the Pickaway County Nurses Association.

The session was held in the home of Mrs. Jean West of Spring-hollow Rd. with 20 members present.

Mrs. Norma Gulick was elected as the new treasurer and Mrs. West as the corresponding secretary.

During the meeting a letter was read from District 12 extending an invitation to all registered nurses, whether members of the district or not, to attend the meeting, to be held at Children's Hospital in Columbus. At the 8 p. m. meeting of October 3 the new Ohio laws concerning the annual registration of nurses will be discussed.

Also discussed was the student nurse's loan available to any Pickaway County girl, whose application is approved by the club.

Mrs. Wanda Hildenbrand gave a report to the group on the trip to the Eli Lilly Laboratories at Indianapolis, Ind. The trip was attended by four members: Mrs. Hildenbrand, Mrs. Elaine Bowman, Mrs. Mary Walters and Mrs. Gertrude Seymour.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses; Mrs. West and Mrs. Bowman.

The next meeting will be held October 9 in the home of Mrs. Carl Seymour of Stoutsville.

Tommy Shea Feted At Party On 2nd Birthday

A birthday party was held for Tommy Shea, who was celebrating his second birthday.

The event was held in the home of Tommy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shea of 220 Lewis Rd., with Mrs. Shea and Mrs. William Spangler as hostesses.

A toy truck filled with roses centered the table from which the honored guest opened his presents.

During the party the young guests played games and received favors, followed by the hostesses serving refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Those attending were: Barbara Minke, Beth Weiler, Christa Binkley, Ricky McFarland, Del Compton, Barry Garner and Keith Grooms.

Double-acting baking powders react largely in the oven, although their leavening action begins during the mixing.

Make a brown-sugar syrup and add maple flavoring. Nice for pancakes.

A little poultry seasoning may be added to give flavor to stews.

Blend a little prepared mustard into mayonnaise. Gives zip!

Add drained canned small green peas to stewed tomatoes; saves heating vegetables separately. Only one pan to wash!

Try baking fruit cobblers in custard cups for individual servings.

Household Hints

Stir a half cup of grated cheddar cheese into a package of pie-crust mix. Use as pastry for green apple pie.

Diced avocado, strips of drained canned pimiento and French dressing make a fine before-dinner cocktail.

Add mixed pickling spice to a boneless pork shoulder butt when you are simmering it in water. Extra flavor!

Heavily waxed cartons come in round tub shape with snap-on lids; they are useful for freezing either liquid or dry foods.

Horseradish is a natural for roast beef; serve grated fresh horseradish (in a lettuce cup) if you can get it or use the commercially prepared bottled variety.

Lard has greater shortening ability than most fats. Remember this when you are following a pastry recipe calling for some other kind of fat.

ENTERTAINMENT AT SUEZ OPENING GAVE BRITAIN MAJOR STOCK SHARE

Parade of ships opens Suez canal to world-wide traffic.

By Central Press Association
CAIRO—The Suez crisis stirs memories of the canal's grand opening almost 87 years ago when the most lavish and expensive party in history was given to commemorate the event.

The festivities lasted more than a week and estimates of the cost run as high as $10,000,000.

Khedive Ismail of Egypt spent with a prodigal hand to make the opening a memorable event for the thousands of guests. Among the latter were the emperor of Austria, Empress Eugenie of France, the prince royal of Prussia and the prince and princess of the Netherlands.

To entertain his guests the Khedive commissioned the Italian composer Giuseppe Verdi to write an opera and to stage the opera, the now famous Aida, he built an opera house in Cairo.

So that his guests might see the pyramids in style, the Egyptian ruler constructed a 10-mile boulevard from Cairo. To house them he built hotels in the cities which sprang up along the new waterway.

At Ismailia, named after him, he erected a beautiful palace. In honor of the Empress Eugenie, the wife of Napoleon III, he completely redecorated Beyler-Bey palace. He added hundreds of chandeliers, gilt furniture, a splendid marble bathroom and a swimming pool in the center of the main room.

The Khedive spent $2,000,000 during a weekend of festivities in honor of the Empress Eugenie, whose visit to a Moslem ruler sent the Arab world back on its ears. The empress arrived on the royal yacht Aigle, escorted by French warships. She was a relative of Ferdinand de Lesseps, the French engineer who built the canal.

THE GRAND festivities were launched with the bishop of Alexandria blessing the canal. The empress, in her yacht, then headed a procession of boats from the Mediterranean to the Red sea.

After a day, the flotilla reached Ismailia. The thousands of guests then mounted camels and journeyed out into the desert, where they were entertained by Bedouin troops.

That evening the Khedive threw a grand ball for his guests in his new palace. Highlight of the ball was the stormy arrival of hundreds of sheiks who poured into the ballroom, where they staged whirling dances, holding hot coals in their teeth as they did so.

WASHINGTON — A lot of money and a lot of people are involved in the so far unsuccessful effort to return war-seized property in full to the original German and Japanese owners.

This has been tried in one Congress after another. The try will be made again next year.

The Eisenhower administration is opposed to the full return of the seized property. William Rogers, deputy attorney general, said such a plan would "remove the burden of compensating the former German owners from the shoulders of the German taxpayer and place it on the shoulders of the American taxpayer."

Total value of the foreign property — owned by individuals and corporations and seized by this government during the war — is about 550 million dollars. Some of it this government still holds.

What it sold — through the Office of Alien Property (OAP) — amounts to around 350 million dollars. Most of this money went to pay off the claims of Americans who suffered in German and Japanese prisoner-of-war camps.

OAP wants to sell off the remaining 200 millions of seized assets. This money could be used to pay off the claims of Americans whose property was destroyed in wartime Germany. They have received no payment yet.

Under a bill sponsored by Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC), and approved this year by the Senate Judiciary Committee, not only the 350 millions in assets already sold but the 200 millions still to be sold would be paid back to the German and Japanese owners.

Johnston says he is interested in the principle of fair play, the sacredness of private property, and good foreign relations. That's pretty much the explanation given by other members of Congress who have sponsored similar bills.

The full-return sponsors reason this way: West Germany has agreed to pay back over 30 years one billion dollars on the 3½-billion-dollar Marshall plan loan this country made Germany. The United States has cancelled out the rest of the loan.

This billion dollars could be used to pay off on the 550 millions in seized assets, with 450 millions left over. If the seized property wasn't paid for, the Treasury would have the billion dollars plus whatever was left over after paying off American war claims from the 550 millions in seized property.

paying back the original German and Japanese owners for their seized and sold property up to a limit of $10,000. But this would be for individuals only, not for corporations seized.

The government estimates this $10,000-per-person-limit would fully cover 90 per cent of the individuals whose property was seized and would cost no more than 60 million dollars.

Biggest plum of all is the General Aniline and Film Corp. — originally part of the German I. G. Farben cartel — which was when the government seized it.

The government holds 97 per cent of its stock and names the board of directors — Americans — who run it like any other corporation. Under the guidance of this board the property now is worth about 105 millions.

Farben transferred the corporation to a Swiss outfit, E. G. Chemie, before its seizure. Chemie, being Swiss, claims it was a neutral in the war and therefore the American government has no right to its property. It's fighting in court to get it back. The American government argues Chemie is a front for the German owners.

17,000 Acres Now Conserved

COLUMBUS — Farmers in Ohio's 87 soil conservation districts last year converted more than 17,000 acres of cropland into grass and trees, T. C. Kennard, state conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service reports.

The conservation reserve goal in Ohio for 1937 is 487,000 acres out of a national 1937 goal of 20 million acres of cropland to be converted to grass and trees.

An SCS summary said 60,000 acres of land in Ohio now in crops need to be placed in permanent grass cover and 130,000 acres of cropland should go in trees.

Mrs. Smith served as postmistress at Wellington, Ohio, under appointment by President William McKinley. Her brother, the late Myron T. Herrick, was governor of Ohio and U.S. ambassador to France.

She was the widow of Dr. Arthur Bushnell Smith, an X-ray technician, who died in 1949. Her funeral will be in Wellington.

Titanium Due To Be Product Of Ohio Plant

ASHTABULA, Ohio — Facilities to produce 5,000 tons of high-quality titanium sponge will be incorporated in a multimillion dollar plant which the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co. plans to open here next year.

This operation, announced Saturday in New York, will be a part of U.S. Industrial Chemicals earlier announced plant to turn out 750 tons of zirconium a year. Production of both metals will be within the 175,000-square-foot plant the chemical concern purchased recently from Lake City Malleable Co.

As soon as foundry equipment

is removed from the plant, reconstruction to equip it for producing the "wonder metals" will get started.

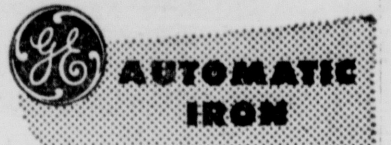

Titanium, highly resistant to heat and corrosion, is used in the aircraft industry. Titanium sponge a porous, crystal form of the metal, is melted into ingots for processing by mills such as those of Republic Steel Corp. in Canton and Massillon. The product has an exceptionally high weight-strength ratio. It is about half as heavy as steel.

U.S. Industrial Chemicals, a subsidiary of the National Distillers Producers Corp., operates a sodium and chlorine plant less than a mile from the new titanium and zirconium plants. This will afford low cost sodium for use in the new metallic sodium process for reduction of titanium tetrachloride to sponge.

Wall Street Now Wondering If Bear Market In Offing

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — The big question today on the Wall Street quiz is whether we're seeing the end of the long bull market and the start of a bear market.

Those bullish minded about long run prospects still outnumber the bears. But of late they haven't been so quick to put money on the barrel head to back up their views. And the bears are gaining followers.

There's a growing group, too, who bet we won't be seeing either a bull or bear market, but rather a continuation of the sideways, selective market where traders pay heed to the ups and downs of particular companies rather than to the stock list as a whole.

Forecasting the course of stock prices is one of the most hazardous of trades or pastimes, but also one of the most fascinating. So let's look at what the bulls and bears are saying — a little more boldly today than a few weeks ago.

Bulls think the present stalemate will be resolved on the upside because:

Business continues to boom, industry continues to expand, incomes continue to rise, dividend payments this year will top last, earnings for all of 1936 should be higher than the 1935 total, industrial output is set for another spurt, a growing population assures increased demand for consumer goods, and "confidence" will have the upper hand again once the election is past.

Bears think the long rise is over because:

Many stocks are "too high", the market is "tired", stock yields now are too low to be attractive, industry expansion is outrunning consumer buying, credit restraints will hamper further growth, year-by-year gains in profits are slowing down or levelling off, tight money will discourage future dividend rate boosts, farm incomes still lag despite the halt in the long drop, home building is unlikely to respond quickly to recent governmental pump priming, and an incipient trend toward issuing more stocks will swell the supply at a time when demand for common stocks seems to be waning.

The in-betweeners say the bullish and bearish arguments pretty well cancel each other out.

Lebanon Fireman Dies During Blaze

LEBANON — Fireman Roy Yinger, 58, suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday fighting a blaze that swept through a dry cleaning plant here.

Two other Lebanon firefighters, William Rainey and Wilbur Campbell, suffered hand cuts from broken glass. Fire officials estimated damage at $30,000.

Lancaster Voter In Wrong Lineup

LANCASTER — A Lancaster man went to the Fairfield County courthouse to register for the Nov. 6 election.

The line was long, and he waited patiently for his turn.

Finally, he was asked his name, address, age and the name of his family physician. Then his picture was taken.

At home again, the man realized that he had not registered to vote after all. He had received a free chest X-ray.

GOP Ads Expected

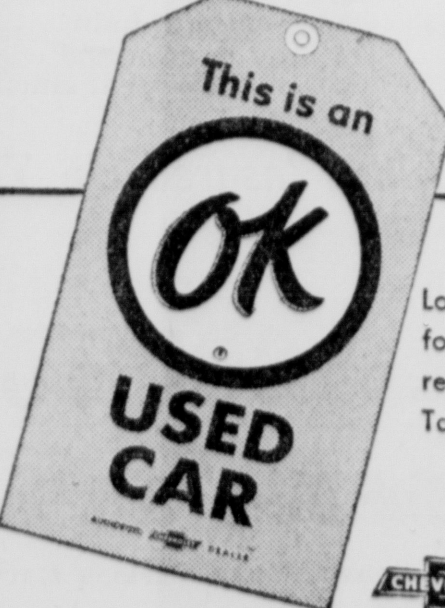

LEBANON — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Michael V. DiSalle has predicted a "Republican advertising onslaught during the remainder of the campaign." He spoke Saturday night at a dinner sponsored by Warren County Democrats.

At 1 a. m. the guests were served a lavish supper, following which they embarked again and after three days reached Suez on the Red sea. The next day the party returned to Ismailia and then Cairo, where a week of festivities followed.

EVENTUALLY, the free-spending khedive found himself short of funds and decided to sell his 177,000 shares of canal stock. Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli of England heard of this and purchased all but a thousand of them. He did so by gathering together in the space of little more than a week about four million pounds.

He thus gained 44 per cent control of the canal for the British government. In breaking the news to Queen Victoria, he said, "The arrangements have just been made." The queen thanked Disraeli, but was somewhat critical of the fact that her prime minister had spent about $20,000,000 "for only half a canal."

The Suez Canal company has its administrative office in Paris and its legal residence in Cairo. The board of directors is composed of 16 French, nine British, five Egyptian, one Dutch and one American, the latter being Pinkney Tuck, former ambassador to Egypt.

Fifty-eight per cent of the shares are owned by France. The president of the Suez Canal company is Francois Charles-Roux.

Nixon Scheduled In Cincy Friday

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vice President Nixon is slated to arrive here next Friday, make a major campaign speech and depart again for a speaking date later the same day, all in less than three hours.

Hamilton County Republican leaders say Nixon is scheduled to arrive by plane at 12:15 p. m., give a luncheon address at a downtown hotel and take off at 2:40 p. m. for Morgantown, W. Va., where he'll deliver an evening speech.

ly cover 90 per cent of the individuals whose property was seized and would cost no more than 60 million dollars.

Biggest plum of all is the General Aniline and Film Corp. — originally part of the German I. G. Farben cartel — which was when the government seized it.

The government holds 97 per cent of its stock and names the board of directors — Americans — who run it like any other corporation. Under the guidance of this board the property now is worth about 105 millions.

Farben transferred the corporation to a Swiss outfit, E. G. Chemie, before its seizure. Chemie, being Swiss, claims it was a neutral in the war and therefore the American government has no right to its property. It's fighting in court to get it back. The American government argues Chemie is a front for the German owners."

Titanium Due To Be Product Of Ohio Plant

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Facilities to produce 5,000 tons of high-quality titanium sponge will be incorporated in a multimillion dollar plant which the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co. plans to open here next year.

This operation, announced Saturday in New York, will be a part of U.S. Industrial Chemicals earlier announced plant to turn out 750 tons of zirconium a year. Production of both metals will be within the 175,000-square-foot plant the chemical concern purchased recently from Lake City Malleable Co.

As soon as foundry equipment

is removed from the plant, reconstruction to equip it for producing the "wonder metals" will get started.

Titanium, highly resistant to heat and corrosion, is used in the aircraft industry. Titanium sponge, a porous, crystal form of the metal, is melted into ingots for processing by mills such as those of Republic Steel Corp. in Canton and Massillon. The product has an exceptionally high weight-strength ratio. It is about half as heavy as steel.

U.S. Industrial Chemicals, a subsidiary of the National Distillers Producers Corp., operates a sodium and chlorine plant less than a mile from the new titanium and zirconium plants. This will afford low cost sodium for use in the new metallic sodium process for reduction of titanium tetrachloride to sponge.

Wall Street Now Wondering If Bear Market In Offing

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The big question today on the Wall Street quizz is whether we're seeing the end of the long bull market and the start of a bear market.

Those bullish minded about long run prospects still outnumber the bears. But of late they haven't been so quick to put money on the barrel head to back up their views. And the bears are gaining followers.

There's a growing group, too, who bet we won't be seeing either a bull or bear market, but rather a continuation of the sideways, selective market where traders pay heed to the ups and downs of particular companies rather than to the stock list as a whole.

Forecasting the course of stock prices is one of the most hazardous of trades or pastimes, but also one of the most fascinating. So let's look at what the bulls and bears are saying — a little more boldly today than a few weeks ago.

Bulls think the present stalemate will be resolved on the upside because:

Business continues to boom, industry continues to expand, incomes continue to rise, dividend payments this year will top last, earnings for all of 1956 should be higher than the 1955 total, industrial output is set for another spurt, a growing population assures increased demand for consumer goods, and "confidence" will have the upper hand again once the election is past.

Bears think the long rise is over because:

Many stocks are "too high," the market is "tired," stock yields now are too low to be attractive, industry expansion is outrunning consumer buying, credit restraints will hamper further growth, year-by-year gains in profits are slowing down or leveling off, tight money will discourage future dividend rate obsolets, farm incomes still lag despite the halt in the long drop, home building is unlikely to respond quickly to recent governmental pump priming, and an incipient trend toward issuing more stocks will swell the supply at a time when demand for common stocks seems to be waning.

The in-betweeners say the bullish and bearish arguments pretty well cancel each other out.

Lebanon Fireman Dies During Blaze

LEBANON (AP)—Fireman Roy Yinger, 58, suffered a fatal heart attack Sunday fighting a blaze that swept through a dry cleaning plant here.

Two other Lebanon firefighters, William Rainey and Wilbur Campbell, suffered hand cuts from broken glass. Fire officials estimated damage at $30,000.

Lancaster Voter In Wrong Lineup

LANCASTER (AP)—A Lancaster man went to the Fairfield County courthouse to register for the Nov. 6 election.

The line was long, and he waited patiently for his turn.

Finally, he was asked his name, address, age and the name of his family physician. Then his picture was taken.

At home again, the man realized that he had not registered to vote after all. He had received a free chest X-ray.

GOP Ads Expected

LEBANON (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial candidate Michael V. DiSalle has predicted a "Republican advertising onslaught during the remainder of the campaign." He spoke Saturday night at a dinner sponsored by Warren County Democrats.

Braves Back In Top Spot In NL Race

Dodgers In Position To Regain Lead If They Can Trip Bucs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Brooklyn Dodgers, out of first place for the first time in a week—by the grace of rain and a curfew law—were in position today to thrust themselves right back to the top of the National League.

They trailed the Milwaukee Braves by half a game because Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew law halted play in the ninth inning with the Dodgers leading Pittsburgh 8-3. If the Dodgers can clock the Pirates in the ninth of the resumed game tonight, then go on to defeat Bob Friend in the regularly scheduled game, they will regain the lead.

The Braves and third-place Cincinnati are idle.

The Braves' half-game lead was made possible by their 7-4 victory over Chicago.

Cincinnati bounded back into the pennant fight by sweeping a double-header from St. Louis 3-2 and 5-4 to climb within one game of Brooklyn. In another National League game, Philadelphia downed the New York Giants 6-2.

The New York Yankees, who have already clinched the American League flag, defeated Boston 7-4. Detroit trimmed Cleveland 11-1. Baltimore blanked Washington 6-0 and Kansas City and Chicago divided a double-header. The White Sox won the second game 5-1 after losing the opener 3-2.

Billy Bruton, a .194 hitter in September, broke loose with four hits, including the first grand-slam homer of his professional career, to lead the Braves to victory over the Cubs. Bob Buhl, knocked out in five previous starts, was credited with his 18th triumph although he needed help from Gene Cofey in the eighth.

The Dodgers snapped a 3-1 tie in the sixth with a four-run attack highlighted by Duke Snider's base-clearing double. Gil Hodges blasted two home runs for Brooklyn in a game that saw-sawed back and forth until the final sixth.

The record crowd of 44,932, drenched but undaunted by the rain that twice interrupted the game, watched eight pitchers go to the hill, seven of them Pirates. Dodger hurler Don Newcombe grew stronger as the game went on, allowing only two of Pittsburgh's eight hits in the final four innings.

Four home runs, boosting Cincinnati's total to 220, one short of the major league record, accounted for all but two of the Redlegs' runs. Ed Bailey's pinch hit homer in the 10th won the opener. Gus Bell's three-run homer and Wally Post's 36th of the season featured a four-run fifth in the nightcap. Post also homered in the first game.

Curt Simmons, aided by four runs, gained his 14th triumph in Philadelphia's victory over the Giants. Stan Lopata became the first Phillies right-hander to hit 32 homers in a season, collecting a pair.

Yogi Berra reached the 1,000 runs-batted-in mark with a pair of hits that drove in three runs but it took a two-run homer by Yankee teammate Gil McDougald to overcome a 3-2 Red Sox lead in the eighth. The homer spoiled Tom Brewer's bid for his 20th triumph.

Frank Lary pitched a two-hitter for his 20th victory and shortstop

Redlegs Need Run Of Luck To Win Flag

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's Redlegs, looking like a corpse that refuses to die, may get to carry their fight for a National League flag right down to the wire.

They were all but counted out of the pennant chase in the last two weeks. Yet they're now 1½ games back of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves after sweeping Sunday's doubleheader with St. Louis.

The Reds will need some luck. Just for a season tie with Milwaukee and second place Brooklyn, the Reds must win their last three games while the Braves lose two of their last four and the Dodgers drop three of seven.

A show of hitting power that included four homers powered the Reds to a 3-2 victory in the opener Sunday and a 5-4 win in the nightcap.

And those four full-circuit blasts lifted the Reds to within one homer of the major league season record of 221, set nine years ago by the New York Giants.

Catcher Ed Bailey lifted his 28th homer of the season over the right field screen to break the tie in the tenth inning of the opener and give the Reds a win.

And the Reds came from behind with four runs in the fifth inning on homers by Gus Bell and Wally Post that proved the margin of victory in the second game.

A five-hitter by Southpaw Don Gross helped the Redlegs in the first game. He gave up two singles in the first inning, but bore down to squelch the Cards on three hits the rest of the way.

Indians At Home For 5 Contests

CLEVELAND (AP) — Holding second place by 1½ games, the Cleveland Indians were back home today for five games which will wind up the 1956 season — night contests Tuesday and Wednesday against last-place Kansas City and a three-game weekend series with Detroit.

The Tigers thumped the Indians 11-1 Sunday in the Tribe's last road game of the year, but Cleveland's second-place rivals, Chicago and Boston, also added a game in the loss column.

Spartans, Irish Due On Television

CHICAGO (AP) — The Michigan State-Notre Dame football game at South Bend Oct. 20 will be televised in the Midwest.

It'll be one of a series of five games involving Big Ten teams which will be televised regionally by the National Broadcasting Co.

The Iowa-Indiana game Saturday also will be carried regionally but the other Big Ten TV games will not be selected until the season progresses.

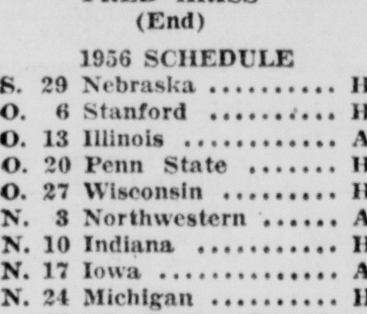

Harvey Kuenn rapped five hits as the Tigers pounded Cleveland pitching for 19 hits.

Connie Johnson clinched sixth place for Baltimore—its highest finish in three years in the American League—limiting the Senators to three hits and fanning nine en route to his ninth victory.

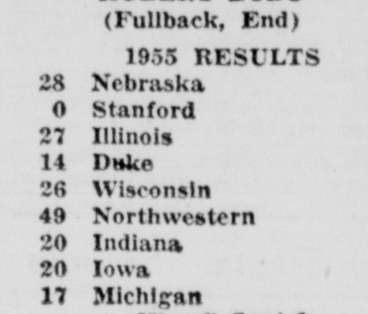

Tom Gorman spoiled Billy Pierce's bid for his 21st victory as the Athletics took the opener with three runs in the sixth, climaxed by Johnny Groth's single. Gerry Staley gave the Sox an even break, limiting the A's to five hits in the nightcap.

20-Game Card Faces Ohio's College Gridders This Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 20-game schedule, with such standouts as Nebraska, Holy Cross, Tulsa and Louisville furnishing the opposition, faces Ohio's college gridders next weekend.

Of the 20 contests, 9 are against out-of-state teams and 11 are in various conferences as the footballers get an early start in the title-deciding campaigns.

Ohio State, gunning for its third straight Western Conference crown, steps outside the Big Ten to entertain Nebraska in its opener. The Cornhuskers romped to a 34-6 win over South Dakota Saturday, scoring in each quarter. Three of the touchdowns came on runs of 38, 75 and 62 yards.

Dayton, 19-13 victor over Cincinnati Saturday, plays Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass., Sunday. Last year Dayton bowed, 13-7, to the easterners.

Cincinnati entertains Tulsa, and Louisville, fresh from a 27-12 win over Toledo, invades Kent State. The latter, victimized 17-0 Saturday by Bowling Green's powerful Falcons, should be rugged.

Bowling Green, with two wins tucked away, plays Western Michigan at Kalamazoo in a Mid-American Conference fray. Another loop contest sends Toledo to Ohio University, and each will be trying to get into the win column. The Rockets have lost a pair, and Ohio U. was downed 47-7 by Florida State in Saturday's inaugural.

Wittenberg and Muskingum perched atop the Ohio Conference standings, see league action again this week. Wittenberg, 34-14 winner over Akron, goes against Marietta Friday night. The river city team dropped a tough 6-0 decision to West Virginia Wesleyan Saturday. Muskingum, a solid 27-13 winner over Mount Union, entertains Akron.

Other Ohio Conference frays send Mount Union to Denison, Ohio Wesleyan to Heidelberg, Wooster to Kenyon, and Oberlin to Otterbein.

The snappy Mid-Ohio League opens with Defiance at Wilmington and Findlay at Ohio Northern. Findlay, 27-7 winner over Indiana Central, has the only victory among that quartet.

Also on the Saturday slate are: Xavier at Miami, Central State at Lincoln (Mo.), Midwestern at Youngstown, Capital at Ashland, Franklin at Bluffton and Baldwin Wallace at Eastern Michigan.

Ohio's teams must win five of the 9 interstate games to get even. They lost 8 of 14 against the outsiders Saturday, and for the season have 9 victories and 10 losses, with a 285 to 294 scoring deficit.

Miss Stewart Wins Amateur Golf Tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — After she won the Women's National Amateur Golf Championship, Marlene Stewart took a serious look at the girl she beat and said:

"Joanne, you're the greatest." As far as golf followers in the United States are concerned, that was the story of the 56th championship tournament that ended Saturday at Meridian Hills, with Miss Stewart a 2 and 1 winner in the 36-hole finals.

Joanne Gunderson, 17, a tall, strong girl with reddish-blond hair and pale blue eyes, was the most exciting player to appear in this tournament. She's the junior champion now, and has a great future ahead of her.

During the six days of the tournament, Miss Gunderson eliminated two members of the 1955 Curtis Cup team — defending champion Pat Lesser and Mrs. Philip Cudone — and a couple of top-ranked older players, Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson and Ann Johnstone.

If the final had been at 18 holes like the others, instead of 36, Miss Gunderson likely would be the new champion. She was leading 1 up after the morning round, but in the afternoon her swing betrayed her, she began to hook shots and, lacking experience, she couldn't make up for her lapses.

Miss Gunderson looks like a sure shot for the 1958 Curtis Cup duel.

Miss Stewart, a recent graduate of Rollins College, likely will be seen in U.S. tournaments for a good many years to come.

the afternoon her swing betrayed her. she began to hook shots and, lacking experience, she couldn't make up for her lapses.

Miss Gunderson looks like a sure shot for the 1958 Curtis Cup duel.

Miss Stewart, a recent graduate of Rollins College, likely will be seen in U.S. tournaments for a good many years to come.

Fire Hits Bank

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—$200,000 fire in the bank of New Smyrna Sunday sent four firemen to the hospital. Twenty-five others were given first aid for cuts and minor burns. The fire was believed to have started from a defective electric wire.

Layers of blue ice are scattered through icebergs.

Polio Scare Fails To Slow Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Coach Bernie Crimmins says Indiana University will continue football practice despite the hospitalization of guard Mert Hoagland, formerly of Fremont, with suspected polio.

However, Crimmins said the temperature of each player will be checked daily and a close watch will be made for any symptoms of the disease. Indiana plays Iowa here Saturday.

Hoagland, 21, a senior, showed no signs of paralysis Sunday and his temperature had dropped from the 104 peak reached when he was taken to Long Hospital in Indianapolis Saturday. His condition is listed as fair.

Walnut, Ashville And Pickaway Win 1st Round Football Games

Six-man football got off to a rousing start Saturday night at the fairgrounds with Walnut, Ashville and Pickaway winning their opening contests.

In the opener, Walnut, scoring twice in each half, took the measure of Darby 26 to 6. Ted Young and Dave Riegel, teaming up for two touchdowns each, led the Tigers to victory.

Darby's Trojans, fighting all the way, managed to rack up their lone TD in the first half. With a few more breaks the Trojans might have made the game a little closer than the score indicated.

Coaches Paul Reiss and Tom Bryant's Walnut gridders appear to be headed for a better season this year than in 1955 when they won only one game.

JACKSON-ASHVILLE
The Broncos, showing the same form that won them the league championship in 1955, handed Jackson a 34 to 0 loss. Coach Russ Gregg's squad took the lead in the first period on a pass play from Larry Fuller to Dick Hoover and from that point on they were never headed.

The winners second tally came on a 60 yard sprint by Lon Cromley. Hoover hit the scoring column again in the second quarter with a 35 yard dash to paydirt, giving the Ashville outfit a 20 to 0 margin.

Displaying a well-balanced running and passing attack, the offensive-minded Broncos chalked up 14 more points in the second half.

Coach Clyde Trumbull's Jackson squad fashioned several drives toward paydirt, but they could not keep the attacks going long enough to score.

STOUTSVILLE-PICKAWAY
Pickaway's fast-moving Pirates, with Pete Smith, Dennis Wolfe and Neil Echard leading the way, posted a 39 to 0 win over a lighter but game Stoutsville crew.

THREE touchdowns and two extra points gave the Pirates a 20-0 lead by the end of the first quarter. Echard, showing the same running power that made him a standout last year, dashed around his own left end in the second stanza to make the score 26 to 0.

Two more TD's in the last half, one by big Ned Morris and one by Wolfe, plus his extra point try which was good, completed the Pirates scoring for the evening.

Coach Kermit McCafferty's Stoutsville squad fought a hard battle all the way, but Pickaway's seasoned veterans plus good reserve strength proved too much for the losers to handle.

The Pirates, coached by Bill Barnetson and Charles Baxter, convinced the large group of spectators who were on hand for the grid contests that they definitely are included in the list of top contenders for this year's six-man pigskin title.

Next week, the teams meet again on Saturday with the first of three games set for 6:30 p. m.

Scores were as follows:
Darby 6 0 0 0 - 6
Walnut 6 6 7 7 - 26

Jackson 0 0 0 0 - 34
Ashville 7 7 8 12 - 34

Pickaway 7 13 6 13 - 39

Olympic Chieftain Deplores College Football As 'Scandal'

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of five articles dealing with college football.

By AVERY BRUNDAGE
President, International Olympic Committee

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—College football, originally a game incorporating the finest characteristics of the American way of life, has become a national scandal, indeed an international scandal.

A large proportion of our young people today are exposed during their most formative years to an enterprise that is neither fair nor honest. The fact that this sport is sponsored by educational institutions, entrusted with the training of youth of the land, makes it that much worse.

When a group of universities, institutions of higher learning, finds it necessary to discipline, to censure and even to fine themselves hundreds of thousands of dollars for violating their own freely adopted codes, one can hardly expect the public and the player not to be confused.

The abuses overlooked or tolerated in football are fast spreading to other sports and games, and poisoning our entire amateur program. Every fan and every player is fully aware of the commercialization of college football, called an amateur sport.

The proselytizing and subsidizing which have been carried on more or less openly in football in every section of the country are gradually being extended to other sports and are even being applied to foreign students. Foreign countries do not love us for this, educated people in Europe, in Latin America, and in the Orient cannot understand why our colleges should be football factories and farms for professional football leagues.

The enemies we have made with our shifting foreign policies are now saying we cannot even play without being paid; that even in sport we are guilty of double dealing; that we are a nation of dollar chasers, where gold is god. It is not that the actual playing of the game is not correct and ethical. Generally, there is a high standard of sportsmanship in the public manifestation of the game itself. The evils of college football lie in other directions.

One cannot blame the players for the scandalous conditions that exist nor is it fair to blame the coaches and athletic directors. The pressures placed upon them are tremendous. They are hired to produce winning teams in order to fill the stadium. To have a winning team one must have star players. Inducements to the players, clandestine and surreptitious, increase. Hundreds of institutions participate in this mad whirl. Instead of a sport, it has become big business, and as a gauge of how big, consider the millions of dollars that are derived from gate receipts and television rights.

What to do? There are two alternatives. 1. Let the colleges abandon all pretense that the present program is amateur, which it is not; admit they are in the entertainment business, and pay the players, above the table and now below, the salaries they earn. 2. Return to amateurism; operate the athletic department for the benefit of the players and not for gate receipts, with the same standards as the academic departments. Emphasize the social, ethical and cultural values of the game, remembering it is supposed to be a sport and not a business.

Delphos Cage Star Fatally Injured

VAN WERT (AP)—Former high school basketball star Ralph Elwer, 20, was fatally injured near Delphos Sunday when the car he was driving hit a utility pole and then a tree.

Van Wert county sheriff's deputies said Elwer, all-state basketball player at Delphos St. John's High School three years ago, apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He died at St. Rita's Hospital in Lima. Elwer had attended Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Babe Zaharias Approaching Critical Stage

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Doctors released what they called their "first realistic statement" on the condition of Babe Didrikson Zaharias Sunday. They said the famed woman athlete's condition might become critical at any time.

The statement said "Babe has continued to lose ground each week both as to weight and as to strength" in her long fight against cancer.

Dr. G.A.W. Currie said the medical statement was issued because Mrs. Zaharias "has lost interest in newspapers." He said doctors at John Sealy Hospital avoided "giving discouraging reports to the press so long as Babe might read the reports and become unnecessarily depressed by them."

Mrs. Zaharias has been hospitalized since March 29. She has undergone three operations recently.

The statement by Dr. Currie said, "although vital functions have been maintained surprisingly well, that situation cannot continue much longer, in view of the widespread dissemination of the malignant growth."

"Fortunately, the cordotomy operation done earlier in the summer has permitted Babe to remain comfortable and free of significant pain. When awake she is still amazingly cheerful."

Sokolsky's These Days

Change for the sake of changing does not produce progress. We got a new system of electing Senators by the 17th Amendment to the Constitution and now a United States Senator is only a Congressman for six instead of two years.

A Senator must be a vote-getter. And what makes a man a vote-getter? What makes a man a vote-getter in any state? What made Huey Long or Theodore Bilbo a vote-getter? What makes Wayne Morse a vote-getter? It is always that the politician has built a machine of politicians and publicity men who understand the immediate responses of public opinion of a particular area. True, there is always a contrary public opinion and that makes the contest.

It is a pitiful degeneration of the American concept of government and because it is so degenerate, the type of man nominated is no longer of the calibre of Daniel Webster or Henry Clay. And so, one watches what goes on in several states, he sees the vote-getters, the negotiators with cliques and blocs and so-called minority groups. He does not see statesmen.

Walnut, Ashville And Pickaway Win 1st Round Football Games

Six-man football got off to a rousing start Saturday night at the fairgrounds with Walnut, Ashville and Pickaway winning their opening contests.

In the opener, Walnut, scoring twice in each half, took the measure of Darby 26 to 6. Ted Young and Dave Riegel, teaming up for two touchdowns each, led the Tigers to victory.

Darby's Trojans, fighting all the way, managed to rack up their lone TD in the first half. With a few more breaks the Trojans might have made the game a little closer than the score indicated.

Coaches Paul Reiss and Tom Bryant's Walnut gridders appear to be headed for a better season this year than in 1955 when they won only one game.

JACKSON-ASHVILLE
The Broncos, showing the same form that won them the league championship in 1955, handed Jackson a 34 to 0 loss. Coach Russ Gregg's squad took the lead in the first period on a pass play from Larry Fuller to Dick Hoover and from that point on they were never headed.

The winners second tally came on a 60 yard sprint by Lon Cromley. Hoover hit the scoring column again in the second quarter with a 35 yard dash to paydirt, giving the Ashville outfit a 20 to 0 margin.

Displaying a well-balanced running and passing attack, the offensive-minded Broncos chalked up 14 more points in the second half.

Coach Clyde Trumbell's Jackson squad fashioned several drives toward paydirt, but they could not keep the attacks going long enough to score.

STOUTSVILLE-PICKAWAY
Pickaway's fast-moving Pirates, with Pete Smith, Dennis Wolfe and Neil Echard leading the way, posted a 39 to 0 win over a lighter but game Stoutsville crew.

THREE touchdowns and two extra points gave the Pirates a 20-0 lead by the end of the first quarter. Echard, showing the same running power that made him a stand-out last year, dashed around his own left end in the second stanza to make the score 26 to 0.

Two more TD's in the last half, one by big Ned Morris and one by Wolfe, plus his extra point try which was good, completed the Pirates scoring for the evening.

Coach Kermit McCafferty's Stoutsville squad fought a hard battle all the way, but Pickaway's seasoned veterans plus good reserve strength proved too much for the losers to handle.

The Pirates, coached by Bill Barnett and Charles Baxter, convinced the large group of spectators who were on hand for the grid contests that they definitely are included in the list of top contenders for this year's six-man pigskin title.

Next week, the teams meet again on Saturday with the first of three games set for 6:30 p. m.

Scores were as follows:
Darby 6 0 0 0 - 6
Walnut 6 6 7 7 - 26

Jackson 0 0 0 0 - 0
Ashville 7 7 8 12 - 34

Pickaway 7 13 6 13 - 39

Olympic Chieftain Deplores College Football As 'Scandal'

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of five articles dealing with college football.

By EVERY BRUNDAGE
President, International Olympic Committee

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — College football, originally a game incorporating the finest characteristics of the American way of life, has become a national scandal, indeed an international scandal.

A large proportion of our young people today are exposed during their most formative years to an enterprise that is neither fair nor honest. The fact that this sport is sponsored by educational institutions, entrusted with the training of youth of the land, makes it that much worse.

When a group of universities, institutions of higher learning, finds it necessary to discipline, to censure and even to fine themselves hundreds of thousands of dollars for violating their own freely adopted codes, one can hardly expect the public and the player not to be confused.

The abuses overlooked or tolerated in football are fast spreading to other sports and games, and poisoning our entire amateur program. Every fan and every player is fully aware of the commercialization of college football, called an amateur sport.

The proselytizing and subsidizing which have been carried on more or less openly in football in every section of the country are gradually being extended to other sports and are even being applied to foreign students. Foreign countries do not love us for this, educated people in Europe, in Latin America, and in the Orient cannot understand why our colleges should be football factories and farms for professional football leagues.

The enemies we have made with our shifting foreign policies are now saying we cannot even play without being paid; that even in sport we are guilty of double dealing; that we are a nation of dollar chasers, where gold is god. It is not that the actual playing of the game is not correct and ethical. Generally, there is a high standard of sportsmanship in the public manifestation of the game itself. The evils of college football lie in other directions.

One cannot blame the players for the scandalous conditions that exist nor is it fair to blame the coaches and athletic directors. The pressures placed upon them are tremendous. They are hired to produce winning teams in order to fill the stadium. To have a winning team one must have star players. Inducements to the players, clandestine and surreptitious, increase. Hundreds of institutions participate in this mad whirl. Instead of a sport, it has become big business, and as a gauge of how big, consider the millions of dollars that are derived from gate receipts and television rights.

What to do? There are two alternatives. 1. Let the colleges abandon all pretense that the present program is amateur, which it is not; admit they are in the entertainment business, and pay the players, above the table and now below, the salaries they earn. 2. Return to amateurism; operate the athletic department for the benefit of the players and not for gate receipts, with the same standards as the academic departments. Emphasize the social, ethical and cultural values of the game, remembering it is supposed to be a sport and not a business.

Delphos Cage Star Fatally Injured

VAN WERT — Former high school basketball star Ralph Elwer, 20, was fatally injured near Delphos Sunday when the car he was driving hit a utility pole and then a tree.

Van Wert County sheriff's deputies said Elwer, all-state basketball player at Delphos St. John's High School three years ago, apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He died at St. Rita's Hospital in Lima. Elwer had attended Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Babe Zaharias Approaching Critical Stage

GALVESTON, Tex. —Doctors released what they called their "first realistic statement" on the condition of Babe Didrikson Zaharias Sunday. They said the famed woman athlete's condition might become critical at any time.

The statement said "Babe has continued to lose ground each week both as to weight and as to strength" in her long fight against cancer.

Dr. G.A.W. Currie said the medical statement was issued because Mrs. Zaharias "has lost interest in newspapers." He said doctors at John Sealy Hospital avoided "giving discouraging reports to the press so long as Babe might read the reports and become unnecessarily depressed by them."

Mrs. Zaharias has been hospitalized since March 29. She was stricken with cancer in 1953. She has undergone three operations recently.

The statement by Dr. Currie said, "although vital functions have been maintained surprisingly well, that situation cannot continue much longer, in view of the widespread dissemination of the malignant growth."

"Fortunately, the cordotomy operation done earlier in the summer has permitted Babe to remain comfortable and free of significant pain. When awake she is still amazingly cheerful."

British Champ Slated For Bout

NEW YORK —Joe Bygraves, the British Empire heavyweight champion, makes his American debut Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena and matchmaker Teddy Brenner couldn't find a much better trial horse than Wayne Bethea to put the Jamaican to the test.

Bethea, 24, strong and ambitious, holds victories over former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, Harold Carter and Jimmy Slade among others. The New Yorker's record is 11-4-2, including five kayoes. Bygraves has a 32-7 record, including 14 kayoes.

County To Have Three Exhibitors In Junior Livestock Show

Steer Display Opens Oct. 3 In Columbus

Nearly 170 4-H, FFA Members Entered From 17 Counties

Entries in the 20th annual Columbus Junior Livestock Show, which opens October 3, list nearly 170 4-H and FFA members from 17 Central Ohio counties with 290 steers, about 240 of which are halter broken.

Exhibitors showing steers in the show from Pickaway County will be: Becky Kinsell, Kenneth Edwin Dountz, Carol Teegardin, all of Ashville Route 2.

The show will be held at the Producers Stockyards in Columbus. The judging schedule calls for Angus classes starting at 9 a. m., followed by Herefords. The Short-horn classes will be in the afternoon, followed by the breed champions and the showmanship classes.

According to C. F. Flickinger, chairman of the show, indications are that the show will again retain its title as the biggest and best of its kind in Ohio. Supporting this claim is the fact that while many of the counties have had local shows and sales, a number of the better steers were destined for the Columbus Junior Livestock Show, particularly if they had sufficient quality and finish.

ALREADY 10 grand and reserve champions have been entered in this year's show and as usual there are many unheralded steers that have never been shown. Then, too, there were many high placing steers in early shows that have had sufficient time to put on additional pounds and become contending champions.

4-H and FFA members are now completing final preparations for the Columbus show by curling, bathing and brushing their steers' fine hair coat, polishing hooves and horns and daily leading and posing of their steers so they will show to the best advantage. The boys and girls realize ultimately that the true test of their efforts will be when the many buyers who represent meat packers, meat retailers and hotels and restaurants bid on their steers.

Over 200 Angus and Hereford steers are entered in the three weight divisions while fewer numbers of Shorthorns are entered in the two classes.

The judge of the show is Herman Purdy of the Animal Husbandry Department, Pennsylvania State University. Purdy has placed the steers in this event on nine previous occasions.

Prior to the sale of the steers will be the Parade of Champions at 7 p. m. when awards will be made to all of the top exhibitors.

Bavaria Starts Big Beer Binge

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Bavaria started a 16-day beer-drinking binge at noon Saturday. As a 12-gun salute boomed over the city, they rolled out the beer barrel for Mayor Thomas Wimmer to open and start the traditional welcome to the harvest season. Before the celebration is over, thousands of barrels will be drained. Five million visitors are expected to pour in and out of the Bavarian capital to drink beer, dance, drink beer, eat bratwurst and drink beer.

Women voters learn about operation of a voting machine, shortly after they gained the suffrage.

Palmer. "The job now is to see that all congressional candidates are well informed on the two planks."

It is something of a puzzle to know exactly why equal rights and equal pay have not been passed long before this. As far back as the convention of 1896 the Republican party platform included mention of women's rights.

Beginning in 1919 with Michigan and Montana a total of 16 states and Alaska have enacted equal pay legislation. The federal government long has given equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex. Also, departments of government not covered in Civil Service apply the equal pay principle.

POINTING OUT that despite some progress no one denies that discriminations against women still exist, Miss Palmer says, "Chief objection to equal rights seems to come from a fear that it would nullify 'protective' legislation. Actually, restrictive work laws for women serve to make employment of women a matter of additional burden to employers—and therefore result in discriminations."

"The National Federation believes that all workers should be insured favorable working conditions, regardless of sex, and that progress in this direction would be more rapid if both men and women enjoyed equality under a constitutional amendment."

Miss Palmer also pointed out that without a constitutional amendment, some state legislatures which granted rights to women subsequently have withdrawn them.

The 84th Congress came the closest of any to date to enacting the measure. It had an all-time high of 233 co-sponsors in the House of Representatives, and 33 co-sponsors in the Senate.

THE EQUAL PAY measure also got sidetracked in the 84th Congress—despite the fact that President Eisenhower had included it in his listing of 28 bills on which he requested favorable action before adjournment. In June, right after Congress adjourned, the AFL-CIO executive council endorsed the equal pay measure.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs also points out the damaging international implications of the lack of equal rights for American women.

Egypt, Burma, Greece, Japan, West Germany and Pakistan all have given women constitutional equality. On more than one occasion, Russia has assailed the United States on the grounds that it does not grant women equal rights.

"Our country needs the intelligent acceptance of responsibility by all of its citizens," says Miss Palmer. "With women under legal disability, over half of our citizens are prevented from making their maximum contribution to the solution of the critical problems that face us."

Car Industry Loses Lead As User Of Steel

CLEVELAND (AP) — Though the automotive industry is gaining strength in the fourth quarter, once again it is taking second place as a steel consumer, the magazine Steel said today.

"For the third time in the last five years, warehouses and distributors are taking the lead from the auto industry as the No. 1 steel mill customer," the weekly publication reported.

"First half figures show they took 20.5 per cent of domestic shipments while auto makers had 17.9 per cent. In 1955, auto makers got about 22 per cent of the steel; warehouses, about 18.4 per cent. First half mill shipments this year totaled 46,933,786 tons; first half, 1955, 41,990,159 tons."

Steel said however, "the pickup in the auto industry" is "a big factor" in making the fourth quarter of this year the largest in history for all American industry.

Although the auto industry has been "a big disappointment" for the past nine months, continued the magazine, schedules call for production of 1,700,000 cars in the fourth quarter, which should bring the year's output close to six million.

A "brisk fourth quarter" also is in prospect for trucks and heavy vehicles.

Steel ingot production last week tapered off half a point to 100 per cent of rated capacity. Price indexes were unchanged.

Ohio Officials Mum On 1956 Poll Turnout

Big City Voter Registrations May Set Record High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio gained about 600,000 potential voters since the 1952 presidential election, but officials shy away from predicting a record vote next Nov. 6.

They continue to hold off in the face of reports that voter registrations appear headed for new highs in some of the 37 counties requiring registration.

Despite widespread drives to get voters signed up where required, officials appear skeptical that statewide registrations will surpass the 3,072,372 recorded four years ago.

But they said a record vote might turn out in November if sufficient interest is generated by the campaigns being waged by candidates for national, state and local offices.

Campaigning candidates who are stepping up their efforts report that most races in Ohio appear to be nip-and-tuck affairs in at this stage.

They said that unless a landslide trend sets in, voting interest may become intense by the time the polls open.

Politicians attributed the current situation to efforts of a revamped Democratic state organization to match or exceed Republican activities at the "grass roots" level.

The latest survey in 11 metropolitan counties showed registrations barely 380,000 below their 1952 aggregate in advance of the Sept. 26 deadline. Registrations usually are heavy in the closing days.

The Lucas County election board clerk reflected the feeling of many officials. "We have a lot more people in the county than we did four years ago," said Harry C. Levy. "Assuming about the same proportion of the total will register—and we figure it will—the final registration should be well over the 1952 mark."

Registration is required throughout 21 counties. Eighteen others have partial registration. All cities of more than 16,000 population require it. Elsewhere in Ohio, 21-year-old citizens who have lived in the state a year and in their county and precincts 40 days can vote without registering in advance.

Four years ago Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted a November vote total of 3,900,000 on the basis of registrations approximating three million. The total vote in Ohio that year was 3,749,828.

Based on population estimates, Ohio had 5,402,116 potential voters in 1952. The total that year was reached by allowing for population gains since the 1950 federal census. Federal figures for 1950 showed 5,280,602 Ohioans 21 years of age or older.

The State Liquor Department recently completed a census showing Ohio's population at 9,006,000 last April 1. From that figure, officials estimated that potential voters in the state now number about six million.

They said the increase in potential voters made a record vote possible. But they expressed be-

Laundry Class Set By Boyer's Hardware Firm

The correct way to launder everything from baby diapers to children's dresses and play clothes will be demonstrated Thursday at Boyer's Hardware, 810 S. Court, at 10:30, 2:30 and 7:00 p. m.

The demonstration will be by Grace French, home economist. One of the features of the show will be a demonstration of the new Norge Dispenser Wheel that conditions rinse water automatically.

Younger children's wearing apparel is often made up of blends of synthetic and natural fibers requiring special handling, Boyer said. Miss French will show how to avoid shrinkage, pulling and other common troubles.

Miss French will be available to answer questions on laundering problems. The Tots 'n Toddlers Launderama will provide gifts for all homemakers who attend.

It is believed that unless campaigning catches fire and registrations take a corresponding jump, the November vote will fall short of a record.

Ohio Health Chiefs Slated For Parley

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four speakers will discuss local, state and national public health practices at the 37th annual Ohio health commissioners conference here Wednesday through Friday.

Speakers will include Dr. Otis L. Anderson, assistant surgeon general and chief of the U. S. County To Have Three Exhibitors In Junior Livestock Show

Steer Display Opens Oct. 3 In Columbus

Nearly 170 4-H, FFA Members Entered From 17 Counties

Entries in the 20th annual Columbus Junior Livestock Show, which opens October 3, list nearly 170 4-H and FFA members from 17 Central Ohio counties with 290 steers, about 240 of which are halter broken.

Exhibitors showing steers in the show from Pickaway County will be: Becky Kinsell, Kenneth Edwin Dountz, Carol Teegardin, all of Ashville Route 2.

The show will be held at the Producers Stockyards in Columbus. The judging schedule calls for Angus classes starting at 9 a. m., followed by Herefords. The Short-horn classes will be in the afternoon, followed by the breed champions and the showman ship classes.

According to C. F. Flickinger, chairman of the show, indications are that the show will again retain its title as the biggest and best of its kind in Ohio. Supporting this claim is the fact that while many of the counties have had local shows and sales, a number of the better steers were destined for the Columbus Junior Livestock Show, particularly if they had sufficient quality and finish.

ALREADY 10 grand and reserve champions have been entered in this year's show and as usual there are many unheralded steers that have never been shown. Then, too, there were many high placing steers in early shows that have had sufficient time to put on additional pounds and become contending champions.

4-H and FFA members are now completing final preparations for the Columbus show by curling, bathing and brushing their steers' fine hair coat, polishing hooves and horns and daily leading and posing of their steers so they will show to the best advantage. The boys and girls realize ultimately that the true test of their efforts will be when the many buyers who represent meat packers, meat retailers and hotels and restaurants bid on their steers.

Over 200 Angus and Hereford steers are entered in the three weight divisions while fewer numbers of Shorthorns are entered in the two classes.

The judge of the show is Herman Purdy of the Animal Husbandry Department, Pennsylvania State University. Purdy has placed the steers in this event on nine previous occasions.

Prior to the sale of the steers will be the Parade of Champions at 7 p. m. when awards will be made to all of the top exhibitors.

Bavaria Starts Big Beer Binge

MUNICH, Germany — Bavaria started a 16-day beer-drinking binge at noon Saturday. As a 12-gun salute boomed over the city, they rolled out the beer barrel for Mayor Thomas Wimmer to open and start the traditional welcome to the harvest season. Before the celebration is over, thousands of barrels will be drained.

Five million visitors are expected to pour in and out of the Bavarian capital to drink beer, dance, drink beer, eat bratwurst and drink beer.
